ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1906.---TEN PAGES. PRICE TWO CENTS.

If the single non-leaking regulating damper, the heat saving cup-joint flues, and the asbestos oven back and bottom, which prevent the escape of a single particle of heat that comes from the firepot, will save a ton of coal a year—and they will, will it pay you to own any other sort?

Crawford Ranges

Are the crowning result of many years of study and practical experimenting, with the one object in view of saving labor and saving cost in preparing the prime necessity of life—food. No other range made possesses the common sense means of saving fire that Crawfords do; no other range the conveniences for doing work quickly and easily; no other range half so handsome—but this—a side issue. If the old range is getting slow or cranky—take a look at the Crawford. We guarantee every range for as long as you want us to.

SHORTCOMINGS OF CONSULAR SERVICE

Described by Secretary Root to House Committee.

Says Eminent Citizens Resent Being Examined.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary Root while appearing before the House appropriation committee in relation to the expenses of the State Department spoke frankly concerning the shortcomings of the American consular service. The statements of Mr. Root, which have just been made public, show that, in response to questions by Representative Livingston, the Secretary said:

"There are a great many consulates that have been in that condition, and there are some that are still in that condition and the fact arises from several causes. One cause is that consulates are used and regarded here not as places in which active and sufficient work is to be done, but are used as places in which to shelve estimable and worthy gentlemen whose friends feel it necessary to take care of them in some way. (Continued laughter).

"Now I have got old enough to be able to say that sort of thing without

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR BOSTON BANK.

Provident Securities Hopelessly Insolvent.

Plans to Realize Funds for Depositors Fail.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Judge Braley of the Massachusetts supreme court today decided that a receiver should be appointed for the Provident Securities & Banking Company, formerly closed by a temporary injunction of the court. The judge was influenced by Charles F. Weed, who a week ago with Alfred P. Hall was appointed custodian of the bank's property, that the affairs of the institution were hopelessly insolvent, and by S. K. Hamilton, counsel of the bank, that certain plans by which it was hoped to realize funds for the payment of depositors had miscarried, whereupon the judge declared that a receiver should be appointed, and directed that counsel for the state and for the bank should agree upon one of the present custodians to become receiver.

The case came up today on continu-

FOR TREATMENT OF M. TAIGNY

France to Demand Apology of President Castro.

Several Warships Near the Venezuelan Coast.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—It is learned here that France will demand an immediate apology of President Castro for his treatment of M. Taigny, the French charge d'affaires. Three French warships are within striking distance of the Venezuelan coast and two more, it has been reported from Paris, are on the way to West Indian waters. What form the displeasure of France will take has been tentatively decided, and will be communicated confidentially to the Washington government. Not until President Castro has felt the form of French dissatisfaction will the world know whether a custom house will be seized.

M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, probably will see Secretary Root today, when it is hoped information will have been received from Caracas. It develops that three or four cablegrams of the greatest importance addressed to M. Taigny by the French government were never delivered. This will be the subject of a rigid investigation.

GREAT ALARM AT LA GUAYRA.

No Communication Allowed With Taigny Before He Sailed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—American Consul Moffat at La Guayra has cabled the State Department in reference to the deportation of M. Taigny, the French charge at Caracas, that there has never before been any interference with foreign officials boarding ships of their own nationality. The consul says that great alarm exists at La Guayra, that M. Taigny was carried away on the Martinique Sunday night, and that no communication was allowed with the ship previous to his sailing.

FRANCE TO ACT FIRMLY.

Premier Rouvier Decides to Demand Extraordinary Credit.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The Venezuelan affair occupied the attention of a special meeting of the French cabinet today. It is understood in ministerial circles, but the fact has not yet been officially given out, that Premier Rouvier has decided to demand an extraordinary credit. This will give rise to debates in the chambers, whose assent is necessary for a grant. The government is fully determined to act with the greatest firmness, at the same time adopting a prudent attitude, owing to the unstable character of the Venezuelan government, which may change at any moment. The authorities at Washington are being kept fully acquainted with France's attitude, and nothing will be undertaken without the absolute cognizance of the United States.

MANY CHANGES MADE.

Secretary Wilson Not Disposed to Discuss Report of Keep Commission.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, was not disposed to discuss the report of the Keep commission when asked for his opinion of it today. The Secretary said, however, that the fullest opportunity had been given the commission to make its investigation. Secretary Wilson declared that many of the changes suggested actually had been made in the statistical bureau and were now and had been for a long time in force. Most of the reforms recommended by the commission, being matters of the law, would require action by Congress before they could become effective.

The accuracy of the department's figures as compared with those of the census bureau was a subject which the Secretary seemed to take more seriously than anything else. He pointed with pride to the small fractions of difference between the department's estimates of the production of cotton and those of the census bureau based on the ginners' reports. "Then why," he said, "should we go any further in order to get the accuracy of our work? If our figures tally so closely with those of the census bureau as to cotton, upon which we have something to base a comparison, upon that theory is it presumed that our figures are inaccurate regarding the other crops upon which we have nothing to base a comparison?"

Concerning the personnel of the crop estimating board, Secretary Wilson said he had about determined upon a prominent Southern man for appointment to the vacancy on the board created by the death of Mr. Hutchins, and that in due course he would relieve Assistant Secretary Hayes as the acting head of the statistical bureau, in order that he might resume the general work of the department.

AGAINST NEW YORK CENTRAL.

Decision of Interstate Commerce Commission in Newman Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Interstate commerce commission has announced its decision in the case of F. M. Newman against the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company and various other principal carriers in official classification territory, in favor of the complainant, holding that a third-class rating for leather scraps in less than carload lots is sufficiently high, and that the defendant's present classification and rating of that traffic is unjust and unreasonable.

DEFEATED GOVERNMENT.

General Alfaro Reported to Have Occupied Quito, Ecuador.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Jan. 19.—It is rumored here that General Eloy Alfaro, the former president of Ecuador and leader of the revolution against President Garcia, has occupied Quito after defeating the government troops.

HOUSE MEMBERS WELL STIRRED UP.

Session Prolonged by Several Discussions.

Payments to Newspapers, Committees and Bond Loan.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 19.—The senate had a short session today, but the house a long and agitated one.

The senate received from the house the act giving notice of the pendency of the petition of the Sea View Railroad Company for an extension of time for the location of its tracks, and it was referred to the judiciary committee.

The governor announced the appointment of General Elisha H. Rhodes as a member of the state commission for the re-location of the Exchange Place monuments in Providence, in place of General William Ames, resigned, and of Patrick E. Hayes of Pawtucket, William J. Crandall and Mrs. Ellen McManus of Providence as members of the board of control of the State Home and School. Under the rules they were laid on the table.

In the house the committee on elections asked to be relieved from consideration of the act concerning the use of voting machines and that it be referred to the judiciary committee. It was so voted.

Mr. Gibson introduced an act licensing milk dealers in the cities of the state. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Newhall introduced a resolution providing that all matters referred to committee shall be reported within four weeks of the date of their reference, on demand of any member. Referred to the committee on special legislation.

Mr. Rattey introduced a resolution asking the state auditor to report all items and the amounts paid to the newspapers of the state in 1905, and the purpose for which they were paid, and a resolution asking the secretary of state to report a list of the names and addresses of all newspapers publishing the Public Laws last year. Mr. Rattey said his idea was to find out how much money was paid to the several newspapers in 1905. The two resolutions were referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Burchard of Little Compton reported the act providing for bonds constituting a highway construction loan, and it was referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Rattey asked the chairman of the committee on special legislation what had become of his resolution which gives a minority representation on committees, and Mr. Burchard replied that the committee is considering the matter and will report in due time.

From the calendar was taken the bond issue for the state armory construction loan and there was a long discussion over the matter of auditing the bills, but the act was finally passed in its original form.

Both branches adjourned to Tuesday at 11 o'clock.

VERDICT IN BLOEBAUM CASE.

Reached in Seven Minutes by the Court in Hazing Trial.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 19.—The trial of Midshipman Chester A. A. Bloebaum of St. Charles, Md., on charges of hazing, was resumed before the court-martial today, George H. Mann, Bloebaum's counsel, addressing the court in his behalf.

The next case to be tried is that of Charles M. James of Grinnell, Iowa, a member of the second class. Like Meriwether and Bloebaum, James was obliged to stay at the academy during September last when the other upper class men were on leave because of deficiency in his studies. He occupied part of his time, it is charged, in initiating the members of the new fourth class into academy life.

George H. Mann, counsel for Bloebaum, said that this case was remarkable in the fact that witnesses had shown resentment against the accused. This, he said, had gotten the better of their judgment, and that, as was frequently the case, there was a girl at the bottom of it. Caldwell, he said, should have resented any such reflections at the time, and not asked the court to make itself a vehicle to punish Bloebaum, and he doubtless exaggerated the incident.

The judge advocate defended Midshipman Caldwell from the imputations of the counsel for the defense. All information had been dragged from him, he said, and it was not right to make such aspersions on his reputation.

At 10:55 the court was closed for the consideration of a verdict, which was reached in seven minutes, by far the shortest period in any case.

Minor Meriwether, Jr., was before the court for a short time to have a part of the record in his case verified.

After considering some minor matters the court took a recess. The case of Charles M. James of Grinnell, Iowa, a member of the second class, will be taken up this afternoon. He is charged with hazing in eight instances, all occurring during September last.

TO GO TO JAPAN AS AMBASSADOR

Governor Wright Named by the President.

His Successor in Philippines to be Judge Ide.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Luke E. Wright, governor general of the Philippines, has been named by the President as the first American ambassador to Japan.

The indications are that Henry C. Ide of Vermont, at present the senior member of the Philippine commission and acting governor general, in the absence of Governor Wright, will receive the appointment to that office upon the latter's transfer. He will not remain in office long, however, and there is reason to believe that his successor has already been practically decided upon.

The following announcement was made today at the War Department: "Judge Ide, now vice governor of the Philippine Islands, has asked to be relieved from further duty on the first of June next, after six years of faithful and efficient service as commissioner and vice governor in those islands. The President considers that he is entitled to the dignity and honor at the governor generalship during that period. Upon Governor Ide's retirement, General James F. Smith, now a member of the commission and former justice of the Philippine supreme court, will succeed him, and General Smith's name will be sent to the Senate after the confirmation of Governor Ide."

In accepting the new appointment, Governor General Wright sacrifices $5,000 a year in compensation. It is believed that Congress will accept the recommendation of Secretary Root, that in connection with the elevation of the American legation at Tokio to the grade of an embassy the compensation of the incumbent be raised from $12,000 to $17,500, but as Governor General Wright's present salary is $20,000, he still will be suffering a considerable financial loss.

This Morning's News.

CHURCH FLOOR COLLAPSED.

Crush in Vestibule Caused Timbers Underneath to Give Way.

BOYLSTON, Mass., Jan. 18.—The flooring of the vestibule of the Congregational Church in Boylston Centre collapsed tonight under the weight of a crowd of people who were there to attend a turkey supper, and between 60 and 70 persons were precipitated into the cellar. One man was seriously injured, several others were so badly hurt that they required the attention of physicians, while nearly all suffered from shock and bruises.

It is believed that the action of Jasper W. Sawyer, the church organist, assisted materially in preventing a panic and quieting the crowd after the accident. Mr. Sawyer was seated at the organ in the main church auditorium. When the vestibule floor collapsed and the screams of the victims arose, Mr. Sawyer instantly turned to his instrument and began playing, and upon the 50 or 75 people who had gathered in the auditorium awaiting the beginning of the entertainment the action had a quieting effect.

It was necessary to bring ladders into use to remove the people from the auditorium, which is on the second floor of the building, as with the vestibule flooring gone there was no other means of egress. Most of the 80 people were taken out by ladders raised to the windows, while others walked across a temporary staging made of ladders and boards fixed across the hole in the vestibule.

Just before the accident happened, about 7.30 tonight, two trolley cars filled with people from Worcester, Sterling, Berlin, West Boylston, Shrewsbury and other places had arrived at the church. The people who had come earlier had finished eating and the tables were being cleared to be made ready for the newcomers. People who had dined went into the vestibule of the building, intending to wait there for the beginning of an entertainment later in the church auditorium, and there were met by the throng of new arrivals from the trolley cars. In the crush in the little vestibule the flooring sagged and, some of the timbers beneath giving way completely, a hole was opened under the feet of the throng.

Through the opening three score or more persons dropped into the cellar, a distance of 10 feet. There was a wild scramble to escape, but fortunately cool-headed persons in the crowd prevented a panic and the women and children were first assisted from the mass. A lamp fell with the flooring and was broken, but the fire was extinguished before it had caused any damage.

NO MERCY FOR RIOTERS.

St. Petersburg Authorities Prepared for "Red Sunday."

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 18.—Undismayed by the arrests of their successive executive committees, a group of Socialistic workmen today elected a new workmen's council, whose president issued an address threatening with death all who do not obey the commands to abstain from work January 22, the anniversary of "Red Sunday."

The employers generally are not opposed to a cessation of work January 22, and the workmen's delegates are confident that the strike will be quite general and probably will include the city's lighting system.

Trouble is not expected. The troops, however, are taking up stations in the suburbs and industrial quarters so as to deal with any disorders in their incipiency. Orders have been issued to quell rioting and militant demonstrations without the slightest mercy, employing machine guns, if necessary.

M. Notovitch, editor of the Novosti and one of the most prominent Jews in public here, has been sentenced to a fortnight in the penitentiary for printing a proclamation of the Union of Postoffice Employes during the recent strike. This will disfranchise him and prevent his election to the National Assembly, in which he was a candidate. The editor of the Svoboda (Liberty) has received the same sentence in addition to being deprived of the right for five years of editing a newspaper.

A similar penalty is impending for the editors of the Russ, Nasha Shisn and other papers which printed the manifesto of the Workmen's Council December 15. These cases will soon come to trial.

RURAL ENGLAND FOR LIBERALS.

Shows Same Enthusiasm as That Displayed by the Towns.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Rural England is now being polled and is returning Liberals to Parliament with the same enthusiasm as that already displayed by the towns. Few additional returns are available, as the county pollings are only known the day following balloting, but those announced show persistent Liberal and Labor gains.

Glasgow has gone strongly Liberal, the seven contests there being marked by four Liberal and one Labor victory, while the only two Unionists left in the representation are free traders.

Among the well-known members of Parliament unseated are: A. Bonar Law (Unionist), representing the Blackfriars district, who was parliamentary secretary to the board of trade in 1902, and Sir J. Stirling-Maxwell (Conservative), representing Glasgow University.

Cambridge University returned two Unionist tariff reformers, S. H. Butcher and Mr. Rawlinson.

Lancashire county appears to be going as strongly Liberal as did Manchester, the three results already announced there recording two Liberal and one Labor gain.

Among those unseated in Lancashire are Lord Stanley, former postmaster general, by the Laborite W. T. Wilson, with a majority of 3,125, and C. A. Cripps by H. Nuttall (Liberal and Free Trader) with a majority of 2,821.

ALL OBLIGATIONS TO BE PAID.

Chicago Brokerage Firm's Failure Causes Great Surprise.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Failure of the brokerage firm of McReynolds & Co., involving hundreds of thousands of dollars in grain trades, was announced this afternoon and caused great astonishment on the Street.

The firm, which is one of the oldest on the Board of Trade, has turned over its open interests to Pringle, Fitch & Rankin, who assume all liabilities. The exact extent of the amount involved is not yet known, but the open interests of the firm are regarded as amounting to about 1,000,000 bushels of grain. It is said that the assets and liabilities are about evenly balanced. The formal announcement was made at 2:30 o'clock today, when the firm posted the following notice:

"All accounts of the firm of McReynolds & Co. have been transferred to Pringle, Fitch & Rankin. All obligations will be paid in full. It is a compulsory transfer."

The failure of the firm was due to the heavy expense of operating its grain elevators, two here and one in St. Louis, and to the light trade which the firm has been handling for some time past. Although the announcement came after the close of the market, it produced great excitement on the Street, where McReynolds & Co. have been considered perfectly safe.

The announcement that Pringle, Fitch & Rankin will assume all liabilities is in accordance with Street usage in such cases, this course being invariably adopted to insure the standing of the members of the Board of Trade.

President G. S. McReynolds of the bankrupt firm is one of the best known members of the Board of Trade and was three years ago chosen vice president of that body. The firm dealt mainly in grain, but handled also a large amount of cotton and did an extensive business in stocks.

JURY SECURED.

Ready for the Greene-Gaynor Trial to Begin.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 18.—After the greatest trouble experienced in the United States court in years in securing a jury, 12 men were found today to sit upon the Greene-Gaynor case. They are all countrymen or live in small towns. Several jurors said in open court that they thought that the defendants would not have left the country if they had been innocent. In all such cases the jurors were excused.

The court said it would be almost impossible to secure an intelligent jury if all were excused who had formed an impression from reading the newspapers, the court saying that otherwise only persons who could not read or form impressions would constitute the juries.

The jury will try the defendants upon charges of embezzlement, presenting false accounts and conspiracy.

TO BUY STREET RAILWAYS.

Chicago Councellors Also Vote Ordinance for Their Operation.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Two ordinances were adopted by the City Council tonight, one providing for the purchase of the street railways and the other for their operation.

The municipal ownership ordinance provides for the issuance of $75,000,000 of Mueller law certificates for the purpose of acquiring the street railways of Chicago. The railways may be acquired by purchase, condemnation or otherwise. It is provided that the Mueller law certificates shall not become an obligation or liability of the city, but that they shall be paid out of the revenues derived from the street railway properties. A sinking fund is provided for, to be used to retire the certificates.

The certificates are to be secured by a trust deed or mortgage on the properties and a 20-year franchise. In case of foreclosure and sale the purchaser obtains the right to operate the street railways of Chicago for 20 years from date of sale. The ordinance does not go into effect until it has been submitted to the voters and approved by a majority of those voting thereon.

The other ordinance provides for submitting to the voters at the April election the question of municipal operation of street railways. This ordinance does not become operative until approved by three fifths of the voters polled on the proposition.

BLOEBAUM A BRUTAL HAZER.

"Exercised" Fourth-Class Men Until They Were Exhausted.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18.—Hazing of a brutal nature was revealed during the trial of Midshipman Chester A. A. Bloebaum today more plainly than in any of the previous proceedings. Three fourth classmen testified without the slightest hesitation that they had been hazed by Bloebaum until they were utterly exhausted, one severe physical exercise after another being required of them until they lacked power to continue. The most severe accusation was contained in the testimony of Edgar N. Caldwell of Glasgow, Ky., who said that Bloebaum had hazed and abused him because he would not make arrangements for Bloebaum to be introduced to a certain young lady of the fourth classman's acquaintance.

Bloebaum is an appointee of Congressman Champ Clark, who said recently on the floor of the House of Representatives that he would arm a youth he sent to Annapolis with a bowie knife and a hatchet.

BABY COVERED WITH SORES

Would Scratch and Tear the Flesh Unless Hands Were Tied—Wasted to a Skeleton—Awful Suffering for Over a Year—Grew Worse Under Doctors—Skin Now Clear.

WOULD HAVE DIED BUT FOR CUTICURA.

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh.

"He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk. My Aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. So great was her faith in it that she gave me a small piece of Soap to try and a little of the Ointment. I took it home without any faith, but to please her I tried it, and it seemed to dry up the sores a little.

"I sent to the drug store and got a cake of the Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed the directions, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since.

"He is now strong and healthy, and I can sincerely say that only for your most wonderful remedies my precious child would have died from those terrible sores. I used only one cake of Soap and about three boxes of Ointment. (signed) Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D., No. 1, Woodville, Conn, April 22, 1905."

PRICE OF GOLD LOWER.

[Boston Transcript.]

Hon. George E. Roberts, director of the United States mint, speaking before the monthly meeting of the Merchant's Club, hazarded an opinion that one cause of the present high prices of commodities is the low price of gold due to increased gold production, and that the situation is comparable to that of the early fifties following gold discoveries in California and Australia.

Mr. Roberts spoke of the increasing supply of gold, and showed how this supply is in and behind the recent tremendous expansion of business and of credits. He said that in 1890 the output of the world was about $118,000,000; last year, about $376,000,000. These gains were due not only to the discovery of new fields, but to progress in metallurgy, which made possible the treatment of low grade ores at a profit.

"There is," he said, "no more interesting subject of inquiry and speculation than the effect of this golden stream upon the markets, upon all the varied relations of individuals and classes, and upon the social life of the people. In so far as an enlargement of the money supply furnishes support to growing industries and promotes the natural and orderly development of the world's resources, it is a good thing; but after every man is at work, when all the productive forces of society are in full action, you cannot make the world richer by pouring money into it. You reach a point then where every addition means dilution, for the new supplies can only find employment by decreasing the value of the old stock. When this occurs, speculation rather than industry is promoted, economic waste and adventure are likely to run riot, and come to an end in a collapse which disorganizes the whole industrial system."

The speaker referred briefly to the effect of the new supplies of specie in Europe following the discovery of America, and more at length the results of the discoveries in California and Australia. He quoted Professor Jevons's conclusion that commodity prices were advanced an average of 18 per cent in London by these new supplies, while prior to 1850 prices had for 40 years been on a declining scale.

Examining the effects of the recent increase in production, he said that no effects were observable until about 1898, partly because in the early nineties an important share had been taken up by Russia and other countries which were re-organizing their monetary systems, and partly because enterprise was paralyzed in the United States by the silver agitation. Since 1898, however, prices had turned upward, and while the speaker acknowledged that we were still too close to the phenomenon to give final judgment, he thought the upward turn was comparable to that which occurred about 1850, and that the tendency of commodity prices would be upward for some time. The speaker considered it significant that any advance should be definitely established after a continuous decline for 25 years.

The speaker said it was a mistake to suppose that an increase in the volume of money would permanently reduce the interest rate. The value of money, as compared with commodities, was one thing, and the rate for money, in money, was another thing. Interest is a payment in kind, and suffers the same depreciation, compared with commodities, as the principal. The first effect of new supplies of money is to reduce the interest rate, but this stimulates enterprise and creates new demands for money, which restored the equilibrium. He showed that the stock of money in the United States had increased 50 per cent in the last nine years, and interest rates were firmer during the last year than ten years ago.

No amount of money could assure continuous prosperity. The tendency of prices to advance encouraged people to go into debt, and longer prosperity continued the more reckless they would become. The weakness of our finance was great holdings upon narrow margins. This disposition to use our credit and reserves to the limit exaggerates the influence of every fluctuation in the money supply. After gaining $1,000,000,000 in nine years in monetary stock, it might appear that we could spare $100,000,000; but we could not, or the half of it, without trouble.

MEANING OF STOCKBROKING.

[Harper's Weekly.]

Two seats of the New York Stock Exchange were sold recently for $95,000, and another one the same day for $97,500. The value of these seats has trebled, or more, within ten years. They are desirable because they afford to a competent holder a comparatively easy way to make money. There are only 1,100 of them altogether, and the number cannot be increased, and as by far the greater part of the securities dealt in in this country change hands by means of the New York Stock Exchange, the 1,100 brokers have a virtual monopoly of an enormous and increasing business. We take it for granted that any judicious man who had his choice of what he should do for a living would choose not to be a stock broker. We find therefore that the attractiveness of "easy" money-making outweighs by nearly $100,000 the natural disinclination to engage in an objectionable calling. All observers may not agree that the calling is objectionable. It is a necessary calling. All will agree as to that. There must be some apparatus for bringing together the buyers and sellers of securities and making prices at which they can trade. Investors who want to buy stocks or bonds absolutely need, as a rule, brokers to act for them and somebody to constitute a market. But a small number of brokers could take care of all the real investors. About 99-100ths of the stock brokers' business is done for speculators, who buy stocks that they believe will go up and sell stocks which they think will go down.

So pretty much all the brokers' offices are gambling shops, run wide open, in conformity with the law and under supervision of various prophets. We are all gamblers when we buy or sell stocks on a margin, anticipating a rise or a fall, and the brokers are the gentlemen croupiers who assist us in giving up our money and in getting hands on our gains when we are winners.

WASHINGTON FULL OF IMPOSTORS.

[Saturday Evening Post.]

Washington is full of impostors of every variety. An old fellow met an official of the Smithsonian Institution in the surrounding Mall the other day, and grasped the opportunity to unfold a tale of woe, representing himself as a boyhood friend of the famous Confederate General Pickett and his wife. Mrs. Pickett resides in Washington, and, as she is a personal friend of the official, he took the fellow to her, with a view to helping the unfortunate if he was genuine. After a moment's conversation, Mrs. Pickett remarked: "You remind me of a guinea pig." The man looked blank, till she added: "You know, it isn't a pig at all and it doesn't come from Guinea."

INSULTIN' THE SULTAN.

[New York Clinic.]

Ye kings on high seats
Go call out your fleets.
Go call out your horses and mugRam full each steel muzzle
And blow up the puzzle—
The Sultan's in trouble again.
He is,
The Sultan's in trouble again.

He says we are hogs
And Infidel Dogs,
He says we are vultures of prey.
And he swears, "By my urban
And merciful Turban,
I ain't got no money to pay.
I ain't,
I ain't got no money to pay!"

He says, "As a rule
The Christian's a fool.
And he isn't such shucks in a scrap—
If he isn't discreet
I'll call out my fleet
And give him a dose of the Jap.
I will,
I'll give him a dose of the Jap."

So navies, there's sport
In the port of the Porte.
Where there may be a target or two.
Where there's room, anyway,
For a naval display.
Just to see what the Sultan will do.
He will.
(I know what the Sultan will do.)

He'll look up his dues
And his bad I. O. U's
In a graceful Mohammedan way.
And he'll say, as he should,
"Boys, go home—I'll be good.
And you all have my promise to pay.
Oh, yes!
At least I can promise to pay."

THE MAKING OF EVENTS.

[Washington Star.]

Some men are hammers, and they fall
With swift, relentless shock,
This life for them is, after all,
One grand, persistent knock.

And some are anvils standing there
In undismayed repose,
Firm placed and solid they must bear
The impact of the blows.

The hammer has its work to do.
The anvil may not yield
In opposition, 'Twixt the two
The world's work is revealed.

FANCIES.

"George," said his mother-in-law, "I saw you coming out of a bar-room yesterday."

"Yes," answered George, "I had to catch a train."—[Smart Set.

"You say you conceal nothing from your wife?"

"Absolutely nothing."

"And why do you not?"

"It is evident that you do not know my wife."—[Houston Post.

An old hen was pecking at some stray carpet tacks in the back yard.

"Now, what do you suppose that fool hen is eating those tacks for?" said Homer.

"Perhaps," rejoined his better half, "she is going to lay a carpet."—[Chicago News.

"Is Dr. Blank a homeopathist?" was asked of the porter who answered the ring of the door-bell. Hesitating for a moment, his African features lighting up, the porter replied: "No, sah; no, sah. Dr. Blank goes out an' treats patients right along, sah."—[Exchange.

The best man at the wedding is sometimes hard to pick out—of course the bride may consider him the bridegroom, but the maid of honor would speak for the handsome usher, and the bride's mother for the rich uncle who gave the handsomest gift, and the bride's little brother for the caterer, so there you are.—[Home and Abroad.

A bashful young couple, who were evidently very much in love, entered a crowded streetcar in Boston the other day. "Do you suppose we can squeeze in here?" he asked, looking doubtfully at her blushing face.

"Don't you think, dear, we had better wait until we get home?" was the low, embarrassed reply.—[Life.

"Tommy, I'm going to punish you severely."

"What for, Pa?"

"Now, don't try that innocent game. I know all the bad things you've done today."

"No, you don't, Pa. You don't know where I hid the strap you lick me with."—[Cleveland Leader.

PERSONALS.

....The youngest king in the world is Daudi Chua of Uganda, Africa, a protectorate of England. He is now about eight years of age, and holds court seated on a scarlet throne with a leopard skin under his feet and bearing in his hand a toy gun.

....William K. Vanderbilt has served notice that he will make another attempt to have the Lake Success Road, which runs through his estate at Great Neck, Long Island, closed. Arguments are to be heard January 27, on application of counsel for Mr. Vanderbilt.

....Mrs. J. Frank Porter found at her home recently a loaf of wedding cake that had been put away 15 years ago and had been forgotten. It was placed in a cake tin with a glass of water, and moistened up despite the fact that it was as hard as a brick when Mrs. Porter found it. A few slices of it were cut and eaten, and the cake proved delicious. Then it was packed away to be kept for a number of years longer.

....Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston announces that he has decided to emulate Benjamin Franklin by donating $1,000 to form a fund that is to accumulate interest for 100 years. The donation with its accumulations is to be expended by the members of the board of managers existing 100 years from now, for the purpose or purposes which will in the opinion of the managers composing the board at that time best serve the interests of humanity.

....M. Fallieres, the new president of France, has a large, round face. His hair is white, profuse and inclined to curl. He has for 30 years worn a cravat of the same pattern, namely, dark blue with white spots. He invariably carries an umbrella—even during fine weather. He is an early riser, getting up usually before 7 o'clock, and generally goes to bed at 10. He is fond of domestic life, and spends the evenings at his fireside, with his wife and daughter, reading or listening to music. M. Fallieres is an intimate friend of M. Loubet, and has been a frequent companion of the president at the shooting parties at Marly and Rambouillet. M. Loubet being a splendid shot at pheasants, while M. Fallieres is wonderfully adept at killing rabbits and hares.

STOLE $1,500 OF JEWELRY.

Burglars Cut a Hole Through Flooring of Show Window.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—While Charles Kelbow and two clerks were at work in Mr. Kelbow's jewelry store in Broadway, Brooklyn, early last evening burglars cut a hole up through the flooring of the show window and got away with about $1,500 of jewelry. Kelbow was astonished when a pedestrian came into his store to tell him the display of jewelry was in disarray. It is one of the most daring and clever burglaries ever reported to the Brooklyn police. Kelbow discovered upon investigation that the burglars got into the cellar under the jewelry store by an adjoining hallway and cut a hole through the floor of the window by boring a row of holes. Then they abstracted 31 diamond rings, 47 wedding rings and a lot of miscellaneous jewelry. They had disappeared when the jewelry was missed.

TEN PAGES.

THE PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS.

Presidential influence has been used more than once for the promotion or prevention of Congressional action, but if we are to accept Washington reports Mr. Roosevelt is going at the House in a hammer-and-tongs style quite unprecedented and open to considerable criticism. He is reported to have told Congressman Steenerson that he would have withheld patronage from him if he had known that Steenerson proposed to oppose the race-track bill. Whether or not it were proper for him to use his patronage in the interest of that bill, his frankness was not likely to change the position of Mr. Steenerson. It could hardly fail to arouse the resentment of other opponents of the measure, for if men are to submit to dictation, or trade their votes for patronage, they wish the transaction veiled with the forms of decency.

In addition to his threat to use patronage against members who oppose the race-track bill, he is now reported to have said to the Missouri Congressmen whom he tried to bring into line: "There is money being used on the bill to defeat this bill. It is being used by the railroad and mining interests and some of the insurgents are getting it. And you can tell Babcock I said so." Nothing would be more likely to infuriate Congressmen who are opposing the bill than the accusation from the President that they are taking bribes. It would be far more likely to stimulate than to disintegrate the opposition.

But why should the President take such a deep interest in this bill? In the Philippine tariff there is a question of duty; there is a national moral obligation. If the President thinks justice to the Filipinos requires tariff concession he must feel very strongly about the bill. But with all Arizona and a good part of New Mexico opposed to coming to the Union as one state, certainly no question of duty is involved; there is no moral obligation to do an oppressive act. Why is the President so intensely anxious to accomplish it?

POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS.

The matter of political contributions has been made especially prominent of late by reason of the revelations in this connection through the investigations of the insurance companies and other large corporations. Of course it has been known in a general way that a large part of the expenses of campaigns are provided for by contributions, but not much attention has been given by the public generally to the sources from which these contributions were received. That candidates are called upon to shoulder a large proportion of this expense except in special instances is a matter of common knowledge, and the evil which results from that practice, in limiting available candidates to men of fortune, is to some extent at least appreciated. But it was a real revelation to many that large corporations share regularly in the payment of the expenses of political campaigns.

It was, besides, startling to not a few to learn that the money of the people paid into insurance companies and similar organizations was used in this manner. Of course it is possible to understand how such contributions might be legitimate, if not too heavy and made in sincerity and honor, on the ground that the success of certain parties or persons is essential to the well being of the people, but the disclosures which have been made recently have not all at least been of such a character as to indicate that these contributions are often, if ever, made from any such motive. The probability is that in most cases those making the payments were not considering the welfare of those whose money they were handling so much as their own.

Sometimes, when people hear about political contributions and the payment of election expenses, they are apt to think that such subscriptions are general among party adherents, but the fact is that those who contribute for such a purpose are comparatively few and are for the most part confined to the candidates, the moneyed men of the communities and the corporations, which are benefitted or injured by the character of the legislation adopted by national or state law-making bodies. The great mass of the party followers make no contributions. It is the few and not the many who pay the bills, and generally speaking only those who can well afford to do so.

The whole system, however, is full of danger and conducive to corruption. Candidates are selected for their wealth and not for their fitness, or at least not for the latter alone. Individuals are brought into league with the party leaders and made in a sense responsible for the acts of those leaders, which do not always savor of the just and honorable. Corporations are put in the position of apparent or actual buying of legislation, or paying to stave it off. The conservators of the funds of the people are tempted to give what does not really belong to them, to make themselves strong with the politicians and the party in power. All these things are evils, or at least are susceptible of evil interpretation and development, and it would be much better for all concerned, except the politicians, if the system were abolished and some other method of defraying necessary expenses of campaigns and elections devised and established.

THE LESSON OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS.

At last one prominent Republican has taken note that the recent Presidential election was not evidence of the phenomenal popularity of the President or of the Republican party. His particular point was that the election did not express popular approval of a substantial increase of executive power. "The overwhelming result," he said, "was not caused by more votes for Roosevelt, but by loss for the other tickets, so that the people can hardly be said to have given an overwhelming endorsement of anything."

The election returns show no exceptional popularity on the part of the President and no gain of strength by the party. The total vote cast in 1904 was 2.3 per cent smaller than it was four years earlier, though the population must have increased eight per cent in the interval. Most of the decline was Democratic, but the Republican party itself did not increase its vote in the ratio of the increase of population. Mr. Roosevelt did not receive the McKinley vote plus eight per cent; he had the McKinley vote and a little more than five per cent. What happened was that many sound-money Democrats would not vote because of Bryan's great influence in the party, and more silverite Democrats would not vote for Judge Parker because he was a believer in the gold standard, and some Republicans would not vote because their party was committed to imperialism.

From 1884 to 1888 the increase in the Presidential vote was 12.5 per cent. In the earlier year the vote was probably light because some Republicans did not like Blaine and some Democrats did not like Cleveland, and the aggregate vote being light there was an abnormal increase in the next four years. Between 1888 and 1892 the increased vote was 7.2 per cent, or about what the growth of population required; a little less probably, because the silver Democrats were breaking away from Cleveland. In 1896 the intense controversy over silverism brought out an immense vote, the increase over 1892 being close to 17 per cent. In 1900 the gain would naturally be less, because so great in 1896. The increase in 1900 over 1896 was only 1.5 per cent. Population had been gaining all the time, but not so many voters took the trouble to go to the polls. Some sound-money Democrats would not vote for either Bryan or McKinley and some Republicans were anti-imperialists. But in 1901 so many voters stayed at home that the aggregate vote cast was 3.3 less than in 1900, in the face of a pretty certain gain of eight per cent or more in population.

If we start with 1892 as a normal vote, and add eight per cent to it every four years, we find the vote in 1896 very excessive, that in 1900 slightly excessive—population is probably increasing more than two per cent a year since the revival of business—and that of 1901 was deficient by a million and a third, while the probable vote in 1908 would be a trifle in excess of 16,000,000, an increase of 2,500,000 over 1901. If the Democrats shall have recovered from their silver quarrel by that time the result will be highly problematical, for there is little to indicate what the new voters and the old voters who have not been voting lately may do. This large uncertain element makes prognostications based upon preceding elections extremely fallacious.

TILLMAN'S DISCOMFITURE.

Senator Tillman of South Carolina is said to be the most dejected man in the United States Senate, not especially because his resolution was not adopted—he did not expect that—but because only seven of his fellow Democratic members voted to sustain his position. The South Carolinian has been warned again and again by his colleagues against being carried to extremes in the heat of debate, and of late has been growing conservative. His honesty and ability are now recognized by Senators of both parties. He wants to be a useful and influential Senator, but realizes that such outbursts, delivered in impetuous moments, affect his reputation with conservative people. The smallness of the vote in favor of the resolution is evidently regarded by Mr. Tillman as a rebuke of his violent language.

The brickmakers' association is authority for the statement that there is no combination to force up the price of bricks, but that the unusual demand has kept the prices high. All the manufacturers are making all the bricks they can produce, the increase in manufacture in the districts supplying New York city alone having grown from 750,000,000 in 1900 to 1,250,000,000 in 1905.

Since the Dutch took Holland there have been few more notable victories than Joseph Chamberlain's election in Birmingham.

New York's tastes are versatile if not inconsistent. They are equally pleased with horse shows and shows of horseless vehicles.

More than half the winter months are gone and we have had scarcely two continuous days of real winter weather.

Senator Tillman's pitchfork is manifestly of the barnyard and not of the haymow variety.

WOMANLY MANNISHNESS.

[London Telegraph.]

The proper thing to give a girl of today, we are told, is a walking stick or a cigarette case or a matchbox. Something businesslike and masculine is her only joy. She scorns delights and lives laborious days—though why this should be considered a masculine habit the accusers do not explain. However, it will be readily admitted, especially by men who have played mixed hockey, that the girl hockey player does scorn delights with great zeal. And hockey, so they say, now has women devotees as numerous as the sands of the shore. The consumption of arnica is largely on the increase.

While the woman of today, and still more the woman of tomorrow, thus devotes her daylight hours to the sports which have made her brothers the noble creatures they are, her nights, too, are strenuous. No longer does the long suffering piano claim her after dinner hours (so they say—with less truth than one could wish). No longer are the theatre and the ballroom terrestrial heaven. The woman de nos jours gives her time to serious matters. She goes in her hundreds and thousands (so they say) to lectures—not pretty little lectures with magic lantern slides, but lectures that provide intellectual oatmeal porridge. Lectures which are, speaking metaphorically, bone making food, lectures on the economic system of the Middle Ages and the metaphysic of the will and like, large things of that kind. So say the sentimongers. And thereafter enthusiastically inquire "if all this does not make women into men, what does it do?"

It seems likely to make them, not into men, but into the virtuous heroes of university novels, the wonderful creatures who distribute their lives between games and studying hard, and ultimately die of consumption, but who are not, strictly speaking, men. So let us hope that things are not as bad as the sentimongers say. The worst of a sentimonger is that he frightens people away from what is good as well as what is bad. It is doubtless possible to be too strenuous for your own good, as well as for other people's comfort. Too fierce a devotion to hockey means immediate havoc for other people's anatomy, and ultimately for your own. Too fierce a devotion to the metaphysic of the will—or something of that solid kind—will mean that such mundane matters as dinner go to chaos, and that the student ceases to be human. But after all most of us are not so strenuous that we need to be warned to take things easy. Quite otherwise.

If you want a place where really valuable feminine accomplishments are held in esteem, you should go to Canton. The Chinese there have recently celebrated the festival of the spinning maiden and the cowherd. It sounds gay. Thereat one girl of 16, with a needle in one hand and thread in the other, knelt before the shrine of the star goddess and threaded the needle behind her head. She was at once inundated with offers of marriage. So easily pleased is the simple Chinaman.

DR. HARPER'S LIFE WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

Among the many memories and revelations brought out by Dr. Harper's death is one relating to the operation for cancer which was the beginning of the end. As he made ready for the operating table his mind was dwelling upon the uncompleted work before him, and after the operation, when the surgeons pronounced sentence of death upon him, he said to them: "Boys, boys, keep me alive until January 15 of next year. If I die before then I shall die with my life's work unaccomplished. If I live until then I shall be willing to die the next day—if God wills it—and die a contented man, whose labor is ended." The special work he had in mind in this statement was the rounding out and completion of his scheme to have a great medical department added to the university. This desire he lived to see realized, owing to the skill of his physicians and his own indomitable will. He died January 10, five days before the time for which he had pleaded, but he felt that his work was well under way, and would go on through the centuries in increasing usefulness, and therefore, at the very last, as shown by his murmured phrases, his vigorous, keen intellect, unclouded to the last, was wholly bent toward the great change approaching and the mysteries it held for him in eternity.

THE PRESIDENTS OF FRANCE.

The recent choice of a president in France was the ninth Presidential election since the establishment of the Third Republic. Jules Grevy, who completed his first term of seven years at the Elysee Palace, and President Emile Loubet are the only chief magistrates of republican France who finished their allotted tenure of power. In the 11 years of the First Republic the leaders of the various groups, including Robespierre, president of the convention, were successively guillotined before the expiration of their terms of office. The Second Republic had only one president, Louis Napoleon, elected in December, 1848, by the plebiscite, suffrage of more than five million votes, but he transformed the Second Republic into the Second Empire by the coup d'etat of December 2, 1851. Thiers, the first president of the Third Republic, resigned before the expiration of his term; so did Marshal MacMahon; so did Jules Grevy in his second tenure, and so did Casimir Perier. President Carnot was assassinated, and President Felix Faure died at the Elysee Palace.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

French Firm Proposition to Locate in Woonsocket.

Assistant Superintendent for the State Sanatorium—Harvard Wins from Brown.

Next week, probably at the special meeting of the city council Monday evening, Hon. Aram J. Pothier, representing Charles Tiberghien & Bro. of Tourcoing, France, will present to the Woonsocket city council this concern's proposition for 15 years' exemption from taxation for its new industry, to be located in the Hamlet Village site, which the Tiberghiens have agreed to purchase from the Hamlet Textile Company, provided they secure 15 years' exemption. Mr. Pothier is the Tiberghien's United States representative, and will explain to the city council the magnitude of this concern's plants in France and the desirability of securing them for Woonsocket, and will give an idea as to what these people propose to do when they start to build their mill in Woonsocket.

At the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the State Sanatorium for the Care of Consumptives, held at the State House in Providence yesterday, Dr. Charles B. Gassett was elected assistant superintendent of the Wallum Pond institution. Representative J. Fred Gibson was re-elected chairman of the board, and George F. Whitford, a well known Pascoag man, was chosen secretary and treasurer. Dr. Gassett, the new assistant superintendent, is a young man, who has been in the office of Dr. M. B. Milan, Providence, since his graduation last year from the Baltimore Medical College. Dr. Gassett is a native of Massachusetts, and was educated at Phillips Andover Academy. He is 27 years of age.

The annual meeting between Harvard and Brown in the intercollegiate aquatic sports tournament occurred last evening at the Colgate Hoyt swimming pool at Brown University and resulted in a victory for the Harvard team, whose members captured every event with the exception of the water polo contest. In this the Brown sextet proved, as usual, the superiors of the Cambridge men, and when at the end of the first half the score stood four goals to none in favor of Brown, with two of the Harvard men hors de combat owing to their condition, and unable to withstand the strenuous pace of the Brown players, the visiting team decided that, owing to the lateness of the hour, they would waive their rights in the game and not go on with it. Under the rules of the game Referee Reid awarded the contest to Brown, and as the water polo game counted three in the aggregate of points for the tournament the result stood six points to three in favor of Harvard. The victory for Harvard was won by a narrower margin, however, than appears from these figures, for two of the events were so closely contested that the result was in doubt to the last moment.

The nomination of Walter A. Hill to be postmaster at Phenix, which was sent to the Senate yesterday, is an old one. Mr. Hill is postmaster at Phenix now, having been appointed to succeed the late John H. Campbell nearly two years ago, and having filled the position since April, 1904. January 1 of this year the Phenix postoffice was raised from the fourth to the third class, making it one for which the postmaster must be appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate. It is owing to this fact that it has been necessary to re-appoint Postmaster Hill, who with four years of office ahead of him, will probably hold the position until a central postoffice and free delivery in the valley shall have been established. There are now three third-class or Presidential postoffices in the Pawtuxet valley, where 10 years ago there was none. The cities at Riverpoint, Jericho and Phenix have all been raised to the third class in the last 10 years, and with a third-class postoffice at Apponaug make four in the town of Warwick.

Gartano Androzzi, a 14-year-old Italian boy, who was terribly injured by being caught in a frame at the National and Providence worsted mill in Providence yesterday, died at the Rhode Island Hospital last evening. The boy lived at 145 Spruce street and at the mill was employed as "back boy" in the spinning room. His work often brought him into the vicinity of the mules, and yesterday, when he stood too near one of the machines, his head was caught between the carriage and the frame. The lad's skull was caught and cracked like a gourd, and when the carriage moved backward the boy fell to the floor unconscious. After the ambulance surgeon had made a superficial examination and had temporarily dressed the wounds the boy was conveyed to the hospital, where it was deemed probable that he would be operated on yesterday afternoon. He did not, however, recover consciousness and early last evening succumbed to his injuries.

HIGH LICENSE AND EDUCATION.

[Clifton Rogers Woodruff.]

Several years ago information reached this country that a society for the protection of animals from cruelty had been organized in a Spanish town, and we rejoiced thereat. Later came word, however, that to help finance this new society a special bull fight had been held!

For years the educational facilities of New Orleans have become less and less adequate. Children of school years have increased. Demands for a more varied curriculum have increased. The need for more and better paid teachers has increased. Indeed educational needs and demands have increased; but the financial ability of the city has been at a standstill.

"What to do?" has been the question of the hour among educators and during the past six months the subject has been discussed pro and con, in private and in public. Meetings have been held. The New Orleans Progressive Union, an active body of business men, has given its attention to the subject. A Public School Alliance with Professor J. H. Dillard of Tulane as president has been formed.

An increase of taxation was discussed; but this was not feasible. It seldom is. The equalization of assessments was then taken up and considered; but neither was that feasible. What then should be done was the burden of every interested person's inquiry. Then came the suggestion that the way out of the difficulties was to increase the license for the sale of retail liquor.

The New Orleans Progressive Union, through its board of directors, endorsed the idea. So did the Public School Alliance. A license of $1,000 was at first proposed; but this is considered too large and a somewhat lower one has been suggested. The amount is a matter of secondary importance. What educators and municipal administrators will watch with deep care and interest will be the results of making the liquor business support the schools.

So well did the Progressive Union like the idea that it recommended it as a feasible means for providing for an extension of the street cleaning funds and the maintenance department of the city government and likewise to increase the efficiency of the fire department. Why the police department was not included is not known, but there would seem to be a fitness in the suggestion that the sale of liquors should contribute to the support of the maintenance of the police.

We speak of this proposition to supply the needed increase of funds for educational purposes from higher liquor license fees as if it were something new. The states of Pennsylvania and New York have for years had high licenses which have materially added to the treasuries of the states and this money has been used for general purposes, including education. The novelty, one is disposed to say, and the merit of the New Orleans experiment is that it is to be done openly, directly, avowedly.

ONLY TAKING A LITTLE VACATION.

Conditions are changing in so many businesses that it would not be strange if the manufacturer had yet to plead for protection against the girl in her teens. A young girl appeared at a large hat manufactory one Monday morning and asked for work. She was inexperienced, but they needed help badly, engaged her at once, and took the time to teach her one department of the work.

She learned easily and very quickly, earned something the first day, and in two days was making as much as any other girl in the room. They noticed that she seemed to enjoy the work and the prospect of good wages, and were greatly surprised when she appeared at the office Friday night and desired to "settle up," saying that she was through work.

The manager asked if anything disagreeable had happened.

"Oh, no," the girl replied, airily. "It's a real nice place to work. But I was only visiting in the city for a few days, and thought I might make a little money. I'm going home tomorrow morning."

CAPTAIN LEWIS FIRM.

Fined for Refusing to Send His Daughter to School.

Declined to Accept Probation and Will Go Where He Can Get His "Rights."

There was an entertainment at this morning's session of the district court, furnished by Captain Charles E. Lewis, of South Portland, Me., and schooner yacht Cruiser. Captain Lewis was arrested on complaint of Truant Officer Topham, for not sending his daughter, Ethel E., between ten and eleven years of age, to school. The truant officer had reported the case to the School Committee, and there being no compliance with the law on the part of Captain Lewis he was arrested.

Truant Officer Topham stated the case, as already given to the school board. Then Captain Lewis put him through an examination. He asked if the case had been brought because of enmity on the part of his neighbors. Mr. Topham thought not, as he had received complaints that the girl did not go to school from people who are interested in the schools and not in the neighborhood of Summer street, where the child lives. He said, in answer to a query, that he saw no evidence about the house that the child was neglected. The only thing was that he had informed Captain Lewis what the conditions were, and he had not complied with them.

Mr. A. O'D. Taylor testified that Captain Lewis had hired the house on Summer street in May, had paid the rent regularly and was a good tenant. Captain Lewis was surprised that Mr. Taylor should be called; he supposed he was a friend, Mr. Taylor assured him that he was. Superintendent Lull testified that the name of Ethel E. Lewis is not on the list of public school scholars.

Captain Lewis furnished a great deal of comedy business of the country drama variety by his remarks to witnesses, to the court and to City Solicitor Brown. He gave everybody advice, and at times the court gave him advice, as he had no counsel. He put in no evidence and was cross-examined briefly by Mr. Brown. He said, as Mr. Topham had testified, that he had told the truant officer that the child is receiving competent instruction at home, under his inspection, but that he would not send the instructors to be approved by the school board. Then he made an appeal and later read a long article, which he said he had prepared last night. The first part was very general, and among the statements were that he was a native and a descendant of natives of this country, had fought in the Civil war, been wounded, captured and imprisoned in Libby prison.

He had knocked about the world much, and last April embarked on the Cruiser for an extended trip which might extend around the world. He came to this harbor and remained here during the summer, making his home on the yacht. He found an excellent instructor in music here, in the person of Mr. Jeter, who is teaching the girl. Music and drawing seemed to be the features of her education. He claimed Portland as his residence. He seemed to feel that the School Committee should have communicated with him and that the interference of Truant Officer Topham was uncalled for. He was quite dramatic at times in his reading and his side remarks, which were as voluminous as the readings.

There finally came a time when Judge Franklin told him that he could read no more. Mr. Brown made no remarks, and Captain Lewis was found guilty and in view of all the circumstances was fined the minimum of $5 and costs. The judge said there would be no fine and he would place the case on probation, if the captain would comply with the law and have those who are instructing the girl approved by the school committee.

Captain Lewis said he would not do this, if so, he would have submitted before. He felt that his rights as an American citizen were trampled on in this case. He was told that this was the law, that it is a compulsory education law, and under the circumstances there was nothing for the court to do but take action. There were two offers to furnish bail if he wanted to appeal, but the captain said he would close the incident by paying his fine; gathering together his belongings and going to some place where the rights of a parent to bring up his child as he believes proper are not set aside by the law, as they are in this state.

It is stated that Captain Lewis is a well known and wealthy resident of Portland. He is a writer—a novelist, perhaps, would be a better term—and that he can put words together in an interesting way, either with pen or verbally, is acknowledged by those who attended the trial. He says he will return to Portland, where he claims he will be allowed to bring up his child in his own way. He stated during the trial that she had never attended public school.

JAMESTOWN.

[Irregular correspondence of the News.]

Mrs. M. L. Buttrick of Newport was in town today.

One five-master and four four-masted schooners, representing a carrying capacity of more than 12,000 tons, passed out of the west passage about noon today.

A gardener was seen plowing here today. A photograph of the scene, with the date, January 19, attached, ought to boom Jamestown as a winter resort.

Several tows of barges were compelled to make harbor here in yesterday's storm. Among them were two barges in tow of the coal-carrying tug Charles F. Mayer of the Erie Coal company. The Mayer was ice-bound here last winter for nearly two weeks, and yesterday her captain was ashore renewing acquaintances made at that time.

Mrs. Eli Hehnick will lecture on the Filipinos for the benefit of the Ladies' Beneficial Society of the Central Baptist Church at the home of Mrs. Ellen Gottrell, on Brook street, next Wednesday afternoon.

The funeral of John Edward, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Caswell, was held at their home on Columbus avenue at noon today. Rev. C. D. Burrows, rector of St. Matthew's Church, officiating. The burial was in Newport, the funeral party going over on the 1 o'clock boat.

A FORT ADAMS COURT-MARTIAL.

A court-martial is now in session at Fort Adams, trying all who were in any way connected with the recent rows between soldiers on the fort road. Incidentally the officers are learning what places the soldiers visited and where they secured liquors on Sunday, who and how many were in these places, what they got, how easily they got in and various other matters which might be very interesting to some people in this city also.

THEY KNOW BETTER NOW.

Members of Men's Club of Emmanuel Church Learn a Thing or Two About Basket Ball.

Since basket ball has become a popular sport it has been quite a common thing to hear spectators tell what "they" would do. It has been useless to tell them that if they went on the floor they would probably have to be carried off, but there are some folks in Newport today who will make affidavit that basket ball is no game for old-timers.

It all came around in this way. The members of the Men's Club of Emmanuel Church had the floor to themselves last night. They had a chowder and a smoke and then—fatal idea—they decided to have a game of basket ball, and had it. Captains P. P. Stewart Hale and John Hodgson marshaled the respective hosts and Rev. E. B. Pomeroy was selected as referee, because all thought he would be impartial. Mr. Pomeroy accepted without any expectation that the position was one calling for agility and action, but he was soon undeceived. The players started with great ideas of what they would do. They were really going to show the Algonkins how the game should be played.

Of course, one glance at Captain Hodgson will convince an impartial trainer that he is not in the condition he was when he managed a "sucker" football team. Mr. Hale will agree today that he is somewhat stiff after his exertions. However, he had a big handicap on his opponent, on account of his great reach. If Captain Hodgson had been allowed a fair handicap for this difference, he might have won.

It is unnecessary to remark that the spectators coached the players, who received more advice in the half-hour the game lasted than they will ever be able to use in basket ball in their lives. Some one who had in mind the wind capacity of the teams, as ordinarily shown, made the time 15-minute halves. About all the playing was done in the first ten minutes. Everybody was "all in" at the end of that time and some before, but the crowd insisted on the full measure and so the leg-weary and wind-bent competitors dragged themselves about and got tangled up as to arms and legs until the referee released them.

At the end of the first half Captain Hale's warriors led, 8 to 4. In the second half it was mostly sparring for wind and "swobbing" Captain Hodgson and his fellow warriors, on both sides, and the score was 6 to 2, also in favor of Captain Hale, who won, 14 to 6. There will be no more telling "what I would do" there.

After the contest the spectators enjoyed wilist and bowling and the contestants enjoyed a rest.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. James Ryan of Gloucester, Mass., is in town.

—Mr. Isaac B. Bergmann has returned from New York.

—Chaplain Fleming, U. S. N., who has been visiting here, has returned to the Boston navy yard.

—Mr. O. C. Syvertsen of Taunton, representative of the Glenwood range in New England, was in town today.

—Miss Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Marsh, who recently was operated upon for appendicitis, is improving.

—For the first in the series of table d'hote dinners at the Perry House, a fine program of music has been prepared by the hotel orchestra.

—Members of the Newport Artillery are anticipating a good time at their coming social. Invitations for ladies are in the hands of the entertainment committee.

—The men whom Norcross Bros. have had at work at the Oelrichs villa, trying to make certain changes in the lower portion of the walls, have finished their task.

—W. E. Raymond, Benjamin Cooke and C. H. Bullock of New York, Oliver Hill of Providence and C. H. Masters of Boston are registered at the Perry House.

—Last night Mrs. George W. Smith gave a whist evening for her guests, Mrs. Clara Inman and Mrs. Irene Kenyon of Providence. The first prize was won by Mrs. Inman.

—William E. Brightman has rented for the Builders and Merchants Exchange a half-house in the new realty building on the west side of Colonial street to William M. Allen.

—At the First Baptist Church Sunday the pastor, Rev. Edward A. Johnson, D. D., will preach at the morning service on "The Bride of Jesus," and in the evening on "What is your Life? It is Even a Vapor."

—Another case of scarlet fever was admitted to the new City Hospital on Broadway last evening, making six of fever and two of diphtheria now confined there. All seem to be doing well and the little ones appear to be contented.

—Today at low water Mr. J. K. Sullivan started tug Solicitor at work on sunken barge Emma, and in less than an hour and a half the Emma was afloat and alongside Sullivan's wharf. There was no trouble about raising her, just as everybody expected. The Solicitor will take the barge to Providence tomorrow.

—The rain finally ceased doing business yesterday afternoon, and a sort of fog took charge. It was damp and disagreeable, but not rain. This morning the dampness was solid and walking for a while was not pleasant, but the sun soon cleared this. The birds knew that the day would be clear, for they were piping merrily before the sun came up and made good their claims.

—This morning a number of specimen copies of a Sunday paper was distributed and in consequence a number of copies of papers are seen about the streets, the youngsters taking the sections they wanted and throwing the rest away. This shows that the suggestion of the Civic League that the children be given instruction about throwing things on the streets is a timely one.

—Herbert L. Dyer has sold for the owners of the Maitland property two parcels of land to William Buehler, the first bounded west on a proposed street, 50 feet wide, called Washington street, 60 feet; north on land of the grantors, 80 feet; east on land of Amalie Buenzle, 60 feet, and south on Sycamore street, 80 feet. The second parcel is bounded east on said proposed street, 150 feet; south on Sycamore street, 188 feet; west on the harbor, 149.6 feet and north on land of Edith Kendall, 175.4 feet.

WALLING NOT ARRESTED.

Report to That Effect Without Foundation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The correspondent of the Associated Press at St. Petersburg, having been queried concerning the reported arrest of William English Walling in that city for revolutionary activity, telegraphed today that Mr. Walling has not been arrested, and that the report to that effect is without foundation. The Associated Press received the statement that Mr. Walling had been arrested from Abraham Cahan, editor of the Jewish Daily Forward, yesterday, and accepted it as correct.

PASSED THE CENTURY MARK.

Death of Mrs. Ann Carney, Who Reached Her Hundredth Year Last October.

Mrs. Ann Carney died this morning at the residence of Mr. John Sullivan, with whom she had made her home for many years. In her one hundred and first year. She had been until about six months ago in excellent health, always bright and cheery, with the full possession of her faculties. Her death was due to old age, without any specific illness. Mrs. Carney was born in Ireland October 18, 1805, and had lived in Newport about 60 years. She and her husband were employed by the late Charles H. Feltham, who occupied a summer residence on Bellevue avenue for many years. After her husband's death Mrs. Carney continued to work in the Feltham household for some time, but later had no regular employment, working out only occasionally. She had no living relatives, her sister having been the wife of Mr. Patrick Tierney, who lived on Spring street at the foot of John street for many years, and died a quarter of a century ago.

Mrs. Carney had lived for 25 years with Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan. She was not only the oldest member by years, of St. Mary's Church but had been one of the first members of the church. The body will be interred in the Tierney plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

DEATHS IN DECEMBER.

Thirty-Eight for the Month and 369 for the Year—Sixty-Nine Cases of Scarlet Fever Reported.

The monthly report of the Board of Health shows a total of 38 deaths in December and 369 in the twelve months of the year. The deaths for the month in a population of 25,000 give an annual rate of 18.24 in each thousand inhabitants, and for the year a rate of only 14.76. In former years the total number has been as follows: 1902, 416; 1903, 350; 1904, 333, the number for 1905 being but two more than the average of four years.

The 38 deaths were from 18 different causes, the largest number from any one cause being seven from organic diseases of the heart. There were five from Bright's disease, four each from cerebral congestion and hemorrhage and broncho-pneumonia, two each from typhoid fever, tubercle of the lungs, pleurisy and acute nephritis and one each from whooping cough, diphtheria and croup, cerebral softening, acute bronchitis, pneumonia, diarrhoea and enteritis, malformation, congenital debility, senile debility and suicide.

Of the 38 decedents 20 were males and 18 females, 37 were white and one colored. 21 single, eight married and nine widowed.

The ages of the decedents were as follows: Under one month, 1; one month and under one year, 4; one year and under five, 2; five years and under twenty, 2; twenty years and under forty, 5; forty years and under sixty, 5; sixty years and under eighty, 14; over 80 years, 2. The oldest was 87 years and the average age was 30 years, 10 months and 12 days.

Of the decedents 19 were born in Newport, three in other parts of Rhode Island, four in other states and 12 in other countries.

The deaths occurred in the various parts of the city as follows:

First ward, 9; Second, 8; Third, 10; Fourth, 5; Fifth, 4; Newport Hospital, 2.

Twelve bodies were brought to Newport for burial, and the interments were in the various cemeteries as follows: Island Cemetery, 9; St. Mary's, 7; Common or Old, 11; Braman, 4; removed from the city, 21.

The following cases of contagious diseases were reported during the month to the Board of Health: Scarlet fever, 69; diphtheria, 5; typhoid fever, 3; measles, 1; pulmonary tuberculosis, 1; total, 79.

CAR FALLS TO THE STREET.

Train Jumped the Track on the Elevated Road in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—One person was killed and a dozen injured when a car on the Elevated railroad in Brooklyn fell to the street today. The car was crowded with passengers. The accident occurred at a curve on the Lexington Avenue line of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company at Fulton and Chestnut streets. The train, which consisted of three cars, jumped the track at a switch, and the first two cars remained on the elevated structure, while the rear car fell into the street. The train was bound for Cypress Hills.

DUE TO HARD GUM.

Reason Why Postage Stamps Become Detached From Letters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—In view of complaints to the Postoffice Department of the brittleness of postage stamps, and their tendency to curl and become detached after being affixed to letters, an investigation was ordered, and it was found that the trouble is due to the hard gum used in summer, and which is affected by the cold, dry atmosphere of the winter season. All such stamps supplied to postmasters have been directed to be withdrawn by them until the summer months and in the meantime new supplies are being forwarded coated with a softer glue.

M. Maubourguet at Liege.

LIEGE, Jan. 19.—M. Maubourguet, the former charge d'affaires of Venezuela, who was expelled from France last night by the French government, as a result of the treatment which the French charge d'affaires at Caracas, M. Taigny, was subjected to by Venezuela, has arrived here. He will remain here a few days and will then proceed to London.

Reported by Wireless.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—La Bretagne, from Havre for New York, is reported as having been in communication by wireless with the Marconi station at Cape Race, Newfoundland, at 5:10 a. m. when 150 miles east of that port.

The Caledonia, from Glasgow and Mobille for New York, was in communication by wireless with the Marconi station at Cape Race, Newfoundland, at 11:30 a. m., when 150 miles southeast of that station.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 19.—The Wellman-Chicago Record-Herald Polar expedition, a corporation whose object is to reach the North Pole with the aid of balloons and airships, has been organized in this city. The certificate of incorporation was filed today with the secretary of state, Victor F. Lawson, proprietor of the Chicago Daily News, is president, and Frank B. Noyes, proprietor of the Chicago Record Herald, is treasurer.

EXPLAINED BY LITTAUER.

Urgent Deficiency Appropriation Bills Discussed in House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Consideration of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill was begun today by the House in committee of the whole, with Mr. Sherman (N. Y.) in the chair. Mr. Littauer (N. Y.) explained the items in the bill, which aggregate $15,251,503, including $5,340,756 for the Panama canal.

"Coercive appropriations" by the executive departments of the government was made the subject of criticism by Mr. Littauer. He said the practice had become well established by long usage, whereby the head of a department arbitrarily forced Congress to meet its demands for money. The most common method of accomplishing this was to use up any particular appropriation in less than the year for which it was intended to cover, and then demanding of Congress a deficiency appropriation. The effort to remedy this by the last Congress had been only partially successful, and the pending bill, he said, went a step further.

COOPER BILL DISCUSSED.

Secretary of War Taft Appears Before House Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary Taft appeared before the House committee on insular affairs today to discuss the Cooper bill providing for the re-organization of the Philippine government departments. Under the bill the department of the interior is granted general supervision of the non-Christian tribes, excepting those in Moro provinces. Mr. Taft said this was desirable, as the personal attention of the Secretary of this department would enable these tribes to advance in civilization more rapidly than they otherwise could.

The committee asked Secretary Taft to consider the bill further together with Governor-General Wright, of the Philippines, who will be heard by the committee at its next meeting.

Robert H. Todd, mayor of San Juan, Porto Rico, also appeared before the committee. The chief grievance of Porto Ricans, he said, was the present organization of the executive council, or upper body of the Porto Rican congress, which is composed of 11 members, all named by the president of the United States. At it is required that only five of these shall be Porto Ricans. Mr. Todd said the islanders feel they do not enjoy as satisfactory representation as they had under Spanish rule.

BOTH SERVICES PRIVATE.

Stores Closed During Hours of Funeral of Marshall Field.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Funeral services for Marshall Field were held today at his late home and in the First Presbyterian Church. The service at the Field home was characterized by simplicity and brevity, and none but those immediately connected with the family were in attendance. The church service was attended by many of the friends of Mr. Field. This service, too, was private, and admission to the church was by card. In the afternoon a memorial service was held in the auditorium, which was crowded to the doors by the employes of Marshall Field & Co. Rev. John A. Morrison, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated at all three services. The body of Mr. Field was placed in the vault at Graceland cemetery directly after the second service of the day. Final arrangements for the burial will be made later.

Never before in the history of Chicago has such respect been paid to the memory of a public citizen as was shown today in that of Mr. Field. During the hours of the funeral services at the house and the church all the large retail establishments on State street were closed and the 1,000 enterprises operated by the members of the Chicago Commercial Club were closed. The board of trade held but a brief session, and upon every prominent building in the business section of the city flags were displayed at half-staff.

CONFER WITH WESTERN MEN.

Members of Legislative Insurance Investigating Committee.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Members of the legislative insurance investigating committee of this state, which lately concluded an investigation of the life insurance business, held a conference in this city today with representatives of the insurance departments of several western states. The conference was called by State Senator William W. Armstrong, chairman of the legislative committee of this state, and was held to permit of an interchange of opinions regarding the insurance laws necessary to be enacted in this state because of the revelations of the investigations.

Senator Armstrong said the conference was executive. The senator also said that there should be held in Chicago February 1 a meeting of governors and officials of various states for the purpose of a mutual interchange of opinions in the matter of dealing with life insurance. This will be held under the auspices of the national association of insurance commissioners.

VICTIMS RESTING COMFORTABLY

Boylston Church Accident Not so Serious as Reported.

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 19.—The victims of the accident in the Boylston Congregational Church last night, when the floor of the vestibule collapsed, allowing about 50 people to drop 10 feet into the basement, are reported today to be resting comfortably. The accident is not so serious as was thought at first, and most of the victims escaped with slight bruises and scratches. The most seriously injured are George L. Tupper, who had a rib in his left side broken, and Henry L. Hepburn, who received internal injuries.

GARFIELD IN COURTROOM.

Counsel Says He Will Prove That Packers are Entitled to Immunity.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19. John S. Miller, speaking for the packers, continued his preliminary statement in the United States court today. He created something of a sensation by stating that he would prove, by the admissions of Corporation Commissioner Garfield while on the stand, that the packers are entitled to immunity from prosecution. He declared further that last March Commissioner Garfield declared that he would consider the packing of facts by his agents, in the offices of the packers, as if they had been developed before him personally and had been presented in his presence at a formal hearing. Commissioner Garfield, who was in the court room when the statements were made by the attorney, began writing rapidly on a pad of paper, taking notes of the statements made by Mr. Miller.

SIBLEY NOT A CANDIDATE.

Popular Representative Refuses to Run Again.

Senator Scott Wants to Give a Public Building to Every Town of 5,000 Inhabitants.

[Washington correspondence of the News]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Joseph C. Sibley of Pennsylvania gives the best of reasons for refusing to again be a candidate for Congress. He has a summer home on Lake Champlain, with a yacht and all the other accessories which wealth can buy. He has a winter home in Florida, with a steam yacht and all the comforts that surround such a place. He desires to travel in Egypt and Palestine, and the only time to travel in those troubled latitudes is the winter. He can only enjoy his winter home in the southland in the cold weather, and during all that time he is compelled to remain in Washington attending to his Congressional duties. More than this, there is not now in his district a factional quarrel or any other condition that could disturb him. He withdraws at a time when nothing could defeat him. "I believe I have chosen the psychological moment," remarked Sibley, "when everybody is friendly and before I am placed in the attitude of being forced out."

No one is more popular in the House personally than Joe Sibley. There is universal regret by members on both sides of the political aisle that Sibley is to leave the House, where he has been a general favorite. His keenest regret is in leaving his associates in the House, but he feels that he has attained all the honors that he could expect. His ambitions are satisfied. He desires no office or place or any advantages that could be bestowed by any power on earth. To live and enjoy life is all that he desires, and he has every facility for gratifying his desires. Not even the friendships of his Congressional career can hold him, and he prefers to leave the House, as he does politics, when he is surrounded by friends and with no enemies. Surely Joe Sibley is a fortunate man.

Senator Scott, who not long ago became chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds, has a scheme for the construction of public buildings which would give every town in the country with a population of 5,000 people a building. A bill which he has introduced proposes that bonds of the United States shall be issued from time to time and the money raised used for the construction of the buildings. Every town of 5,000 people or more which has not been favored by a building is to have one erected. The amount to be expended for each building is not stated, but it is expected that Congress shall determine the amount as it authorizes the building. It is the theory of Senator Scott that the government pays enough rent to care for the interest on the bonds and that it would be better to pay out the money in interest than for rent.

"I hope the Senator from Wisconsin will not disturb the bill any further," remarked Senator Frye, who was urging to secure the passage of a measure which Spooner had amended. It was a suggestion which, if directed to one of the younger Senators, would not have caused any particular notice and would have settled a new man, but Spooner was persistent and insisted on another defect in the bill which he had amended.

Some one has raised the question that the extended rate hearings which were given last spring were unfair and one sided. That statement was certainly a surprise to members of the committee, who devoted nearly two months to the hearing and held continuous sessions in order that every person who had views to present might get them in the record. The friends as well as the opponents of the legislation were told to furnish names of men whom they wanted to appear and were also assured that the committee would pay their traveling expenses and the per diem allowed by the government in such cases. It was the belief of the committee that all parties who desired to present complaints or make suggestions as to legislation were heard. There are three large volumes of testimony, and every conceivable suggestion for correcting the evils complained of can be found in these books. Another feature of the case is that as matters now develop a majority of the committee is in favor of rate making legislation and has the power to extend the hearings if the proponents want more time.

The Senate always needs a watchdog, so called, a man who will always keep track of bills when they are being passed by unanimous consent and who will object to measures that are not all right or need explanation and oftentimes amendment. Senator Kean is the watchdog at present. It is not a very pleasant position, because objection to a bill is almost sure to offend some Senator who has introduced it and wants to get it through. But the New Jersey Senator does his duty.

"I don't care," he remarked; "if I do not think a bill ought to go through I am going to object to it. I am not situated so as to be hurt by any one who may be interested." A great many bad bills are killed by the quiet remark of Kean, "Let it go over."

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

There were 12 tables at the Grange Whist at Fair hall Thursday evening. Mrs. Joe Sousa took one of the first prizes, a card case, and Mr. Daniel B. Almy the other, a pocketbook.

Master Sydney Sweet, the younger son of Mrs. William S. Sweet, met with a bad accident Wednesday afternoon. In attempting to cut some wood with an axe, he cut deeply into the knuckles of his left hand, besides two or three smaller cuts on the back of the hand, probably caused by the rebound of the axe. The physician called thought it would be a long time before it healed.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Chase went to Arlington Wednesday, to visit their daughter, Mrs. J. Frank Willard. Mr. Chase has returned, leaving Mrs. Chase for a longer visit.

Mr. John G. Barker and wife, who have lived on the Hayward place, better known as the Anderson place, on the West Main road, near Lawton's valley, for many years, have by a change of owners been compelled to move, and have hired a tenement in the house opposite Mr. George Coggeshall's on the West Main road.

Mrs. William H. Sherman, who is ill with pneumonia, is improving.

Mr. Pitt Littlefield has been visiting relatives out of town.

The recent rain storm washed the roads quite a little; owing to the snow in the gutters, which filled them with water as it dissolved, the surface water of the roads had to flow over them and find an outlet as it could.

Mr. Charles E. Boyd is very feeble and under the care of a physician, as is also his sister-in-law, Mrs. Hannah Gorton, who makes her home with him; both are aged people, about 85, and Mrs. Gorton's illness seems similar to one of last winter, when she was dangerously ill for months.

There is a great deal of sickness in the town of various kinds, all four physicians being very busy.

Mr. Constant W. Chase continues to improve.

The traveling is very bad for both man and beast; for riding or walking.

The lecture on pure food to be given under the management of the Current Topics Club of Newport in the new High School hall Wednesday next, numbers present from both Middletown and Portsmouth. The lecturer, a distinguished woman from New Jersey, is highly spoken of.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

[Success.]

Frequently in the South one finds among the negroes as remarkable Christian names as those bestowed upon their offspring by the Puritan fathers.

A gentleman of Virginia tells of a negro living near Richmond, who for years had been familiarly known to him as "Tim." It became necessary at one time in a lawsuit to know the full name of the darky.

"The most unnatural supposition that 'Tim' stood for 'Timothy'" met with a flat denial.

"No, sah!" exclaimed the negro, "mah name ain't Timothy. It's What-Thirteen-Souls-we-poor-mortals-be Jackson. Dey jest calls me 'Tim' for short."

—The Social Four gave a dance at the Middletown town hall last night which proved a successful affair, despite the threatening weather of the day, which probably kept some away. The H. K. Heward orchestra furnished music. The chaperones were Mrs. R. Thurston, Mrs. F. J. Coggeshall and Mrs. George Thurston, and the committee in charge Messrs. H. F. Dowding, 3d., James Easton, J. Wheeler and George Lawton.

Four Simple Rules.

Follow Them and Health, Happiness and Prosperity Will be Yours.

If one would be healthy, happy and prosperous, follow these four simple rules: (1) Keep the bowels open every day. (2) Chew your food slowly and thoroughly. (3) Avoid indigestible foods. (4) If there are any symptoms of stomach troubles, take Mi-o-na before each meal until cured.

No matter how many years you may have suffered with stomach troubles or how worried by sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of appetite, furred tongue, specks before the eyes, headaches, backaches, weakness and debility, indigestion or other ills that are caused by a weak stomach, you can be cured by the faithful use of Mi-o-na.

Mi-o-na is not a fanciful experiment, it is not a patent medicine, it is not a cure all. It is a scientific remedy recommended but for one trouble,—weakness of the digestive organs. It is a permanent cure, and is sold by James T. Wright under a guarantee that it costs nothing unless it does all that is claimed for it.

SHORTCOMINGS OF CONSULAR SERVICE.

anybody being offended. I do not think that when a man has lived out the activity of his life and passed beyond his ambition and his energy and his desire to make a career for himself—I do not think that then is the time to start him out in a new place where he has got to learn a new business and push the commerce of the country."

The following statements were then made by Mr. Root, in reply to questions of members of the committee.

Mr. Bromidge: "I quite agree with you, Mr. Secretary, as to that, but upon whom rests the blame for that condition?"

Secretary Root: "It rests upon a long standing custom, whereby the executive is expected to appoint to important consulates important men from the different states."

Mr. Graff: "Has you have a system of examination?"

Secretary Root: "Yes; so far as the young fellows go. You can put the screws on them and make them come up for examination. But when an eminent citizen——"

Mr. Livingston: "Eminent ex-Senator or member of Congress——"

Secretary Root (continuing): "Yes. When an eminent citizen comes around, you cannot examine him in geography and arithmetic. He resents it, and there is the dickens to pay all along (laughter). It is a custom that has grown up—just like this deficiency custom. When you step in to change custom you cannot change it by piecemeals; you have to jar something.

"Take this consular bill, which is now pending. When it was introduced it contained a series of provisions under which the consulates were to be graded. The original appointments made were to be only to the lower grades, and the upper grades were to be filled by promotion, so that we could catch fellows young while they still had some motive power left in them. These provisions have been stricken out and the bill reported without them. Still, the bill makes a great advance on the present system. It abolishes the consulates and provides for grades the consulates, and it provides the abolition of fees, and it provides against the employment of any clerks, except those of the very lowest grades who are not American citizens; provides against what I think is a very great abuse, namely, the fact that a great number of American consulates are run by clerks of the country in which they are situated. It also does various other things. I don't know whether it will pass or not."

Mr. Livingston: "That is now in the Senate?"

Secretary Root: "Yes, in the Senate. It has been favorably reported."

The approaching end of the active work of the reciprocity bureau was alluded to in Mr. Root's statements about the expense for its maintenance. Representative Littauer asked Mr. Root if the bureau would be permanent, and Mr. Root provoked a laugh with the following reply: "The indications are that it will not be. The making of a system of reciprocity treaties does not appear to have the elements of eternal life."

In discussing trade conditions in China and the necessity for gathering information concerning commercial troubles there, Mr. Root said: "There is no occasion for sending a commission to China. Our minister and consuls at the treaty ports of China are commissioned now. If these gentlemen will come up here I will bury them in papers so that they could not dig out for a week. We have bushels and bushels of reports from perfectly trustworthy American witnesses as to what has been happening in China and as to the cause thereof. We have had special investigations made as to the causes. Investigations made by competent Americans who have lived in China and understand the language and know the Chinese people, and the trouble now is not ignorance as to what the conditions are, it is in applying the quite plain and simple remedy. There have been two troubles—one arising from the fact that the law, the Chinese exclusion act, contains some provisions which experience has shown to be ill-advised, and the other is that that law has been administered in a harsh and inconsiderate way.

"The President has remedied the administration, I think, just as far as the law permits him to do, and the thing to be done now is for you to change the law in some respects; not so as to permit the Chinese laborer to come in, but so that the Chinese laborer can be kept out without insult and indignity and hardship to the Chinese merchants and scholars and the men who occupy the same position in the Chinese community as the people in this room occupy in ours. They have been subjected to gross indignity and gross hardships in many cases, and I do not wonder that they are indignant at it."

Couldn't Lift Ten Pounds.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

Sick kidneys cause a weak, lame or aching back, and a weak back makes a weak man. Can't be well and strong until the kidneys are cured. Treat them with Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's the testimony of one man cured.

J. B. CORTON.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Deppe, N. C., says "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor even ride in easy buggy. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble, you are at liberty to do so."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Corton will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

HAS LONG RECOIL.

Chief Characteristic of New Type of Siege Gun to be Tested.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—A new type of siege gun has been completed by the ordnance department of the Rock Island arsenal and has been shipped to the Sandy Hook proving grounds at New York for a test. The new weapon has a calibre of 4.7 and throws a 60-pound projectile. This is five pounds heavier than the projectile now thrown from the five-inch siege guns, which are to be replaced with the new models if the gun to be tested at Sandy Hook proves satisfactory in every way. The chief characteristic of the new gun is the long recoil. It is said that this gives a steady carriage, and that the carriage will not jump when the gun is fired, as is the case with the guns now in use.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Convention of Tugsmen International Association Closed.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—The annual convention of the Licensed Tugsmen International Protective Association will close today, the delegates having come to a decision to restore the "outlawed" Chicago association its charter, which was revoked a year ago. The international body elected the following officers: President, T. B. O'Connor, Buffalo; vice president, Martin Cole, Duluth; secretary, H. H. Vroman, Buffalo; treasurer, Peter Gagnon, Two Rivers, Wis.

HEBREWS MUST CLOSE STORES SUNDAY.

What threatened to develop into a business race war in Hartford has been amicably settled, but against the Hebrew merchants who have been accustomed to keep their stores open on Sundays. It has been the custom of the orthodox Jews in that city to close their shops at sunset Friday nights and re-open them at sunset Saturday nights, and then remain open Sunday.

The Hebrew merchants took the ground that by their religious tenets their Sunday did not coincide with the Christian Sunday and that they should have the right extended to them to sell goods on the Christian Sunday. This was regarded by the Italian dealers particularly as giving the Jew merchants a great advantage, and numerous complaints have been pressed by the Italians on this account. Under the law the Hartford stores have to be closed on Sunday, and Chief Gunn recently ordered all such stores shut up.

The Hebrews refused to believe that they would be forced to lose two out of the seven days' business by such a ruling, and agreed among themselves to bring a test case. This was done and a Hebrew merchant named Cohn agreed to act as buffer before the law. He was put on trial, when an agreement was reached by Prosecuting Attorney Freeman with the Hebrews. This was that the Hebrews should obey the law literally and from now on their stores will close Saturday nights.

It is rumored that the drug stores will be the next point of attack by the Hartford police on the ground that the druggists sell other goods than drugs on Sundays. Prosecuting Attorney Freeman will confer with State Attorney Eggleston before he takes this stand.

FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Campaign Started in Chicago at a Mass Meeting.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A campaign for woman suffrage in Chicago was started last night at a mass meeting at Abraham Lincoln Centre. Addresses were made by Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Jenkins Lloyd Jones of All-Souls' Independent Church, and others. Mayor Dunne sent a message, expressing hearty sympathy with the movement. Susan B. Anthony sent this message to the meeting: "Do what you can in Chicago now. It is your great opportunity. If you miss it, it will be a grief to the whole world."

If the plans outlined go through, Chicago will witness a strong campaign for women's rights. Petitions will be circulated and the co-operation of every woman's club in the city will be asked to aid a great central committee in the organizing of every ward and precinct. Delegates armed with facts and figures will descend upon the convention which is to evolve a new charter for Chicago.

ALL THE SAILORS SICK.

French Ship, in Need of Repairs, Arrives at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—With all hands but the skipper and mate sick as the result of living for nearly half a year on improper diet, in need of extensive repairs and with barely sufficient canvas left to give her decent headway, French ship Biarritz, Captain Rubinet, arrived yesterday from Cardiff. Four of the sailors were in a serious plight. The Biarritz left Cardiff 171 days ago. She encountered heavy storms off Cape Horn.

A MODERN ARK.

Tremendous Dimensions of the New Floating Dry Dock Which Is to Do Service in the Philippines.

[Providence Journal.]

Astounded by a monstrous thing rising above the sharp, encircling horizon, passengers plying the Atlantic for the next month or more will be prepared to believe that some Noah or other has set out in his ark. A vast red box of steel, 500 feet long, 134 feet wide and 42 feet above the sea, is no common sight to meet with in mid-ocean; in fact, it is an object never beheld before upon the briny billows of any clime. Levelling their glasses at the cyclopean box these astonished passengers may note, now and then, that helium moves, anthke, upon its rim, or should night fall over it, they will see it aglow with electric light.

Here we have the most remarkable cruise ever undertaken by a naval power. The monster which we have pictured is the floating dry dock Dewey, U. S. N. The smart little hero of Manila Bay has had among his namesakes scores of towns, thousands of babies, and tens of thousands of puns or lamcats; but never such a namesake as this has any naval hero of earth been honored withal.

Some time ago Uncle Samuel awoke to the fact that should the President get into a broil with William by divine right, or Edward by the grace of God, or some other monarch beyond the seas, our Asiatic squadron would have no place to dock on the Orient.

Of course at Honk Kong and Shanghai dry docks have all along been open to us, but were we at war with any power neutrality would bar the gates of these ship hospitals against us. In view of all this it was determined to build at home a great dry dock; not a stationary affair, such as at most navy yards, but one of the floating pattern—and tow it to the Philippines.

The largest floating dry dock of the world was therefore constructed, the contractor being the Maryland Steel Company of Sparrows Point, near Baltimore. The cost of this engineering feat was a million and a quarter dollars. The contract required that the great box scoop up and hold high and dry above the sea the largest of our fighting leviathans, which are 16,000 tons. But the contractors went further and gave it a capacity of 20,000 tons, which will enable it to float the largest of the world's battleships yet planned. It contains 11,000 tons of steel plates, held together by 2,000,000 rivets and painted over by 130 tons of red lead and linseed oil.

Just a word as to how it operates: In form it is a box with bottom and two long sides, but with a top and ends missing; or it might be called a trough, rather than a box. The bottom rests upon great square tanks, 18½ feet deep. When valves are opened and the sea water is allowed to rush in, the great trough sinks until the floor is sufficiently below water level for our largest warship to enter between the two protruding sides. Once the vessel is within the water is pumped out of the tanks and the great trough rises until the floor is well above the wash of the sea. The ship inside immediately drains dry and its bottom, entirely exposed, may be painted, cleaned or repaired.

The side walls, besides being 500 feet long, as stated, are 61 feet high from the bottom. When floating by itself, it draws but 23½ feet of water, but when submerged until the depth of water in its trough is thirty feet, its bottom goes sixty-three feet below the surface. After its completion this fall it was towed to a point off Sullivan's Island in Chesapeake Bay and at the mouth of the Piscataqua river. Here, during a series of successful tests, it has been lifting the heaviest battleships of the navy; and has been demonstrating a unique feature of its mechanism by which it can dock itself.

In other words, it lifts its own bottom out of the water while floating only upon its great hollow, buoyant side boxes. During all of these successful trials our naval officers were considering how in the name of all that is holy they could ever haul such a mammoth contrivance clear around to the other side of the earth. Finally they decided upon a plan which is so remarkable that we can dwell upon it with some little detail.

An expert tug master was first picked for, and one was found in Captain J. D. Wood of Norfolk, who has had a wealth of experience in heavy towing along the Atlantic coast. He will live on board the great box until it arrives at Manila, and up to the time he lands safely back at Norfolk he will henceforth receive $250 per month. He will command the dock's crew of eight men, including machinists, engineers, firemen, sailors and electricians, who will stay with the Dewey in the Philippines.

En voyage they will be re-enforced by 22 civilian sailors, to be discharged when they reach Manila. Up within the hollow sides of the great dock will be abundant living quarters, as good as on the best man-of-war. In fact, the dock is provided with state rooms for nine officers, not counting the space for the crew. They will have a complete distilling apparatus for making fresh water, and will be abundantly fed, the usual ration allowance of thirty cents a day being doubled to sixty.

The civilian crew will receive the very best merchant sailor pay. When there are stops at port the crew will have aboard their small boats, while throughout the voyage they will be continually talking by wireless telegraphy to the three vessels towing them. Working the wireless apparatus on board will be an operator, receiving $60 per month, with rations and allowances, as well as a free trip home after the dock has been delivered.

These men will live aboard the dock about four months. They will handle the towing lines and operate the pumps or electrical devices which keep the dock dry. They will be permitted to play games, box, fence or enjoy almost any legitimate amusement during recreation hours. There will be plenty of room on the great floor of the dock for a game of base ball, after the winds of winter have gone and spring has set in.

Of course there will be practically no stops, a longer continuous service afloat than perhaps ever experienced in the navy before; no band of music to lighten heavy spirits as on a man-of-war; no huge concours of jovial fellow sailors; but their odd craft is so big and flat-bottomed that she will scarcely toss at all in the heaviest winter seas.

Harnessed together to tug the clumsy hulk will be three giant naval colliers—the Glacier, Brutus and Caesar, under command of Captain Fullams, U. S. N. Each of these convoys will have its own wireless telegraph plant, which, with that upon the dock, will make it possible for all four vessels to talk together at any time. Instructions as to handling the towing cables will be flashed back and forth continually, as the crew of the dock will be unable to steer her. The genius able to construct a rudder large enough to shape her course has not yet been found. Hence she has to be held to her path solely by the towing power of the colliers.

The tow line will be a mile and a half long, and therefore the longest in marine history. This great length was selected to guard against sharp strains from heavy seas. It is made of three great manila hawsers twisted together and terminating in steel cables—the latter the largest in the world, excepting those of a few great suspension bridges. These steel cables are jointed to the colliers by pneumatic cushions, breaking the pull caused by the waves, and are held by gigantic steam towing machines made at Boston. These latter, in a most ingenious manner, take up and pay out slack on the hawser to meet the heave of the sea. The colliers will carry sufficient fuel to enable them to reach the Philippines without stopping to coal.

How the expedition would weather a great storm is variously estimated by naval men. West Indian hurricanes, such as sometimes sweep up the Atlantic in cold weather, and the monsoons of the Indian ocean, are most feared. The Navy Department decided upon this plan of convoy after considering the towing of the towing out to contractors, as in the case of the smaller floating dry dock taken some time ago from the Maryland Steel Company's plant to Algiers, La.

The towboat bill paid to the contractors for that expedition, covering only one-tenth of the route planned for the new dock, is said to have been $25,000 and insurance for the voyage $50,000 additional. The Dewey's insurance, not yet announced, must be a tremendous item.

The new dock will be towed 10,500 miles and it is expected to make about 100 miles a day. If this speed is kept up, the trip will cover three months and a half. At first it was thought that the dock could not pass through the Suez Canal and that it would have to go to the Philippines by way of the Cape of Good Hope, which would have meant 3000 additional miles, and one additional month. But after investigating the matter the Navy Department discovered that the great bulk can, after all, enter the Suez Canal without interfering with general traffic. Very large tonnage dues will have to be paid at the Suez, however, and the passage through the canal will be slow work.

MAINE ICE HARVEST LARGE.

Great activity is expected on the ice fields of Maine within a week or two. Preliminary work for extensive operations has been going on for some time, and another week of cold weather will thicken the fields to 12 to 15 inches, and make work for thousands of men on the Kennebec and Penobscot rivers, and at several places along the coast. The prospect of an ice crop on the Hudson and elsewhere in the Middle states is said by L. C. Ballard, manager in Maine for the American Ice Company, to be very poor, and it is now believed that instead of 800,000 tons, as originally estimated, 1,000,000 tons will be harvested in Maine this winter.

All of the houses on the Kennebec and Penobscot will be filled, as well as those at Boothbay and two at Portland, while the independent concerns at Sargentville, Bangor, Rockport and other places will make a full harvest. On the Kennebec a thickness of nine inches has been reached, and at Boothbay eleven inches. At Bangor the ice is yet thin—from eight to ten inches, but there is no doubt of a sufficient thickness before the end of this month. The quality is first class.

The houses now empty on the Kennebec have about 550,000 tons capacity, on the Penobscot about 100,000 tons, and at Boothbay 55,000 tons.

IN MEMORY OF DR. HARPER.

Erection of a Library Instead of a Chapel Favored.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Sentiment favoring the erection of a great library instead of a chapel as a memorial to President William Rainey Harper has grown among the University of Chicago professors, students and alumni, in the last few days, according to the suggestion being received by the board of trustees.

It is believed now that a building almost a block long, to cost at least $500,000, will be constructed in honor of the great educator. The cost of a memorial chapel is estimated at $500,000.

"A great library will be more fitting to the memory of President Harper than a chapel," said Dr. T. W. Goodspeed, secretary of the board of trustees and registrar of the university yesterday. "It is likely that a popular subscription will be made, and I have no doubt that $1,500,000 would be donated quickly."

EX-PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA.

Death of General Bartolome Mitre in Buenos Ayres.

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, Jan. 19.—General Bartolome Mitre, former president of the Argentine Republic, died early today.

General Mitre was 83 years old. He was president from 1862 to 1871 and general-in-chief of the army of Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay in the three years' war with Paraguay. He gained considerable distinction also in literature, his work including a translation in Spanish of Dante's Divine Comedy.

TURNED INTO PRAYER MEETING.

Gathering of Chicago Union Printers Listen to Minister.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A strikers' meeting, with its attendant heated debating of labor troubles, was converted into a prayer meeting yesterday by Rev. F. D. Vaughan of the Forty-seventh Street Methodist Episcopal Church. Union printers had begun the discussion of the strike situation, when Rev. Mr. Vaughan entered the hall and asked permission to take part in the discussion. Mr. Vaughan said:

"Union men have made a mistake in placing their union before their religious duties. Your first duty is to your church. Let us pray."

Every hat was removed and every head was bowed. After the prayer President E. R. Wright of the typographical union addressed the men, and when the meeting was closed the strikers walked sedately out of the hall, entirely satisfied with the result of the meeting, though the strike situation had scarcely been touched upon.

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

Wm. H. Cotton Has a Remedy Which He Guarantees to Cure the Worst Cases of Stomach Troubles.

I wish to tell the readers of this paper about a remedy for Dyspepsia, which is a marvel in medicine. It cures the worst cases, from the acute attack of indigestion to chronic dyspepsia. This remedy is known as Albert's Little Dinner Pill, being the prescription of Dr. Hutchinson, the noted specialist of London and Brighton, England, who previous to his decease had built up a remarkable practice as a specialist in diseases of the stomach. Dr. Hutchinson claimed that his success was due to the use of this pill, and since its introduction in the American continent it has performed wonderful cures.

Mr. J. H. Lombard, Casco, Me., writes: "I am now past 51 years of age and have had stomach trouble practically all my life. I sent and got a sample package of Albert's Little Dinner Pill, thinking that it would turn out to be one more disappointment, but from the first dose I found relief, and can say that I am now better than ever before in my life. It is a wonderful cure for Dyspepsia and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from Stomach trouble."

Albert's Little Dinner Pill contains no Papaic, no Acid, Alkali, Ginger, Pepsin, Pancreatin, Soda, Morphine of any preparation of Opium, or in fact any of the ingredients usually found in so-called Dyspepsia cures. It cures by removing the cause and makes the worst cases well, being guaranteed to benefit or the purchase price returned. Sold at drug stores or by mail, 25 cents per package. Samples free. Address Albert Chemical Co., Boston, Mass. Sold and guaranteed by Wm. H. Cotton, 228 Thames street.

A UNIONIST STRONGHOLD.

Joseph Devlin, Irish Nationalist, Captures West Belfast.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The most interesting feature of today's election returns was the capture of West Belfast by an Irish Nationalist, Joseph Devlin. Belfast has been a Unionist stronghold from time immemorial, with the exception of a few years when the seat now won by Mr. Devlin was held by Thomas Sexton. Mr. Devlin has also been re-elected unopposed for North Kilkenny, but he will hold the Belfast seat. He toured the United States in behalf of the Irish cause in 1902.

Twelve Liberal and two Labor gains were announced today as the result of yesterday's election. The totals now are: Liberals 218, Unionists 94, Irish Nationalists 70, Laborites 37.

Among the candidates at today's elections are John Dillon, the distinguished Irish Nationalist, and Lord Willoughby de Eresby, who married in December last Miss Eloise Breese of New York.

The complete returns up to this evening are as follows:

Liberals 220, Unionists 90, Irish Nationalists 72, Laborites 37.

Sir Philip Magnus, Unionist, a member of the senate and a fellow of the London University, captured the London University from Sir Michael Foster, Liberal, a former secretary of the royal society.

MOHAMMEDAN SUNDAY.

No Session of International Conference at Algeciras.

ALGECIRAS, Spain, Jan. 19.—This being the Mohammedan Sunday, there will be no session of the international conference on Moroccan reforms, through deference for the Moroccan delegates. A Moorish villa served temporarily as a Mosque, where the Moors redoubled their religious fervor in praying for the preservation of their country.

In the meantime the exchanges of views between the delegates of the powers have brought an agreement not to consider questions outside of the pre-arranged France-German program. One result of this is to exclude the religious subjects which the Vatican is said to desire to introduce through Austria. However, one of the ambassadors says that the Jewish question can come up not as a religious issue but as an incident to the protection of the subjects of the Sultan.

Mohammed El Torres, head of the Moroccan mission, has informed the delegates that the Sultan is prepared to abolish the harsh laws requiring Jews to prostrate themselves before the mosques and other humiliating practices, but the delegates doubt the wisdom of their abolition, as Mohammed El Torres and the foreign ministers residing in Morocco say that the non-performance of this traditional obeisance by the Jews would excite anti-Jewish outbreak. It is expected that the American delegates will strongly favor an amelioration of the condition of the Jews.

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR BOSTON BANK.

ance, the application for the appointment of a receiver having been made last Wednesday by Assistant Attorney General de Goosh, after announcement had been made that Lorenzo W. Burlen, treasurer of the bank, had gone to Montreal, after declining a request of the district attorney to confer with that official with reference to the bank's affairs. At that time it was stated that plans were under consideration whereby it was hoped to realize a considerable sum by sale of the bank's securities and the case was put over until Friday. In connection with the petition for a receiver Mr. de Goosh informed the court that the bank had 9,000 depositors, whose accounts aggregated $182,000, while the custodians appointed by the court informed him that but $450 in cash remained.

When the case was called today Counsel Hamilton, representing the bank, stated that he must report that the plans of those interested in the banks by which they had hopes to recover at least 25 per cent of the amount of deposits had not succeeded. Therefore Mr. Hamilton said he would not oppose the appointment of a receiver.

At this point Custodian Weed informed the court that in his opinion the institution was hopelessly insolvent, and that there was no one authorized to take charge of the bank's affairs under those conditions, and he recommended the appointment of a receiver.

Both Messrs. Weed and Hall finally were named as receivers, counsel having reported to the court after a conference that the condition of affairs seemed to call for two men instead of one. In accordance with this recommendation the court formally named both the custodians as receivers, but announced that the recompense for their services would be that of a single person, on account of the meagre assets reported to have been found.

Word reached the court house while the case was pending that Lorenzo W. Burlen, the treasurer of the bank, had arrived in Boston from Montreal, but he did not appear at the court house.

Those interested in the bank's affairs considered significant the statement of Mr. Hamilton that plans for realizing money for the depositors had failed, especially in view of the published announcement, alleged to have been made by R. A. Gurley of Denver president of the Shenandoah Irrigation & Land Company of Denver, which it is claimed was financed by the bank, that to save his brother, C. D. Gurley, who was caught in the bank's collapse, the Shenandoah company would assume the liabilities of the institution. This action, it was stated, would enable the institution to pay dollar for dollar, and Mr. Gurley, according to the published announcement, was ready to pay $25,000 immediately as a guarantee of good faith. Interest-bearing certificates of indebtedness for the balance of the claims against the bank would then be issued, it was alleged, the rate to be four per cent per annum.

When Counsel Hamilton referred in court to the failure of negotiations which were intended to bring some salvation to the bank it was understood that he was alluding to Treasurer Burlen's visit to Montreal, which, as the lawyer stated a few days ago, was designed for the purpose of trying to raise an amount of money for the depositors. After the court proceedings today Lawyer Hamilton was questioned with reference to the offer, alleged to have been made by Mr. Gurley of Denver, brother of the promoter of the Providence company. "All I can say about this offer of Gurley," said Mr. Hamilton, "is that I know nothing about it whatsoever. That is all I can say. I stand by my statement made in court that plans to relieve the condition of the company were not successful."

During the supreme court hearing the custodians told Judge Braley that the company had about $450 in cash, 142,500 shares of stock of the Shenandoah Irrigation and Land Company and notes of the Franco-American Gelatine Company, and that its liabilities were $193,000, of which $162,000 was to the depositors. Custodian Weed said he had no knowledge of the value of the assets mentioned, but he believed they were insufficient to meet the liabilities. He learned that a dividend of $2.50 a share had been declared by the company to its stockholders in 1904, but could not say whether it had been paid.

Judge Braley suggested to counsel that the receivership bill be amended so as to allege that there was danger of waste of the company's property if a receiver be not appointed, as well as that the company is insolvent, and also stating that its officers are not taking sufficient interest in its affairs to prevent an aggravated waste. This change will be made. The receivers will file a bond for $5,000.

BURLEN RETURNS TO BOSTON.

Eludes Police Officials Who Were at the Station.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Lorenzo W. Burlen, secretary and treasurer of the Provident Securities & Banking Company, which was placed in the hands of a receiver, arrived here today from Montreal, where he had been since Wednesday. Chief Watts, of the police department, and Superintendent Pierce and Inspector Robinson were at the station. They admitted that they were there to meet Mr. Burlen. The bank man, however, having been informed by his son, who also came to meet the train, that a battery of camera men were waiting outside the station, made his exit by a small door on a back street, where he took a carriage.

The police officials saw Burlen's move, but did not attempt to intercept him. Chief Watts explained that he had come merely to ask Mr. Burlen a question. It was one, he said, which could be attended to later.

The only comment Mr. Burlen would make at the station was "I am in the hands of my attorney, and I cannot discuss my affairs or the affairs of the bank until I have seen him."

TO SAVE HIS BROTHER.

Denver Man Says His Company Will Assume Provident Liabilities.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 19.—The Republican today says: To save his brother, C. D. Gurley, who was caught recently in the crash of the Provident Savings and Securities Company of Boston, as the president of the concern, R. A. Gurley of Denver, president of the Gurley Investment of Denver and of the Shenandoah Irrigation & Land Company of Colorado, says the Shenandoah company will assume the liabilities of the defunct Boston bank, and pay dollar for dollar if the company is allowed to take over the assets of the defunct bank. Mr. Gurley offers to pay $25,000 immediately to the depositors of the bank as a guarantee of good faith. Certificates of indebtedness for the balance of the claims against the bank bearing legal interest will then be issued.

JEWELERS.

What are Jewels, and what are they for?

Jewels are highly polished pieces of garnet, ruby or sapphire through which holes are drilled making indestructible bearings for the hardened steel pivots of the watch. They are specially shaped so as to reduce friction to a minimum and also to keep the oil where it is needed. We could tell you a lot more about jewels, but we want to call your attention to the fact that no Hamilton watch has less than 17 jewels, some have 21.

Drop in some day and we will show you some jewels and finish our talk about them.

BIRDS AND LIZARDS.

Presented by New Zealand to the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Twelve of New Zealand's most interesting birds and four lizards, representing the only creatures of their age remaining in the world, have been presented by New Zealand to the United States, and were sent on the Sierra during the latest trip from the antipodes, en route to Washington, D. C. New Zealand's gift includes four kiwes, four maori hens, four kea parrots and four tuatara lizards. The kiwe is a wingless and tailless bird, whose feathers are used in making mantles worn by the Maori chiefs. The maori hen, known in New Zealand as the weka, is a brown bird much larger than the American hen. The kea parrot is a bird weighing five pounds, and is such a pest in its native country that a reward is offered by the government to induce its extirpation. The tuatara lizard is about 30 inches long, and is the only known survival of its race in the world.

11—Bullish enthusiasm rioted in individual cases, but there was enough stock offered to keep a majority of the prominent stocks within fractional distance of yesterday's close. Stocks in which there was a relatively small public participation went up in a sensational manner, but their strength was of less effect on sentiment than the buying of St. Paul, Union Pacific, New York Central and Reading.

Noon—Money on call, steady, at 1¾ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5@6. The market showed great animation and buoyancy during the second hour. The points of strength were exceedingly various and developed continuity without regard to realizing in some stocks. The uplift of prices to the extent of a point or more was almost universal. Some conspicuous movements were Reading 4, Atlantic Coast Line 3, Anaconda 10 and Amalgamated Copper 2. Bonds were firm.

PERRY BROS. COAL CO.

A VARIED PROGRAM.

Work of the Enterpe Club, the Violinist and the Reciter Pleasing to a Large Audience.

An audience completely filling Masonic hall listened evidently with much pleasure to the ninth concert of the Enterpe Club last evening. Much credit is due to the director, Mr. W. R. Boone, and to the members of the club for the precision and accuracy with which their numbers were rendered. The clear enunciation and excellent shading were also enjoyable features.

The program showed a variety of work. Frederick Bullard's fine setting of the "Winter Song," with which the concert opened, and the closing number, "The Viking's Farewell," were sung with much spirit. Especially well liked were Dr. Luther's "Swanee River," with humming accompaniment; "At Night," with Mr. Swan as the soloist, and the two quartet numbers, "Lullaby" and "Dixie Kid," the first and last calling for encores. Both soloists were in fine voice and sang most acceptably. Mr. Marden's solo in the "Lullaby" was also well and smoothly done, the part suiting his voice admirably. Mr. Swan was again heard to advantage in Grieg's strong and characteristic "Discovery."

Mr. Greene is a favorite in Newport, and his first number last night not only called for an encore, but elicited prolonged applause, which continued even after he had shown himself to the audience twice. Mr. Greene's playing is smooth and finished in detail, and the Hauser Hungarian Rhapsody showed his technical skill and delicate bowing. He responded to repeated calls with Schumann's "Traumerei," and gave as an encore to his second number the Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Miss Maher is well and favorably known here as a reader and last night's readings probably added new friends to her coterie of admirers. Her first number called for an encore, and the second had a musical accompaniment, sympathetically done by Mr. Victor Baxter. Mr. Baxter showed himself a fine accompanist, doing clean, sympathetic work throughout.

The very attractive stage furnishings and palms were loaned respectively by John P. Haire and Henry J. Hass, and the piano by J. H. Barney, Jr. & Co. The concert was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian Church, and should net a good dividend.

SENATOR DEPEW'S ILLNESS.

(New York Herald.)

Senator Depew returned to New York unexpectedly from Washington Wednesday night, and it was reported yesterday that he was seriously ill at his home, No. 27 West Fifty-fourth street. It was said that a conference of physicians was held there in the afternoon, so critical was his condition considered.

While it was admitted at the house last night that Senator Depew is ill, it was denied that his condition is at all alarming. It was acknowledged that several physicians had called during the day, but it was said that they had seen the Senator rather as personal friends than in their professional capacities. No information was given as to the nature of his illness. It was said that no plans have been made for Senator Depew's return to Washington.

PURE AND ADULTERATED FOODS

The lecture on the subject of pure and adulterated foods, to be given next Wednesday in the assembly hall of the Rogers High School under the auspices of the Current Topics Club, should be of interest to every thoughtful citizen. Special invitations have been extended to the members of the School Committee, Newport Medical Society, Civic League, Charity Organization Society and Unity Club, and in addition to pupils of the ninth grade cooking classes and the girls of the high school, but all who are interested may feel free to attend.

Miss Alice Lakey of Cranford, N. J., who is to give the lecture, is widely known in all sections of the country as an untiring and enthusiastic worker in the interests of pure and unadulterated foods and medicine. She will exhibit a variety of adulterants actually found in food materials which have a large sale in Rhode Island. These adulterants, many of them poisons, have been prepared by the bureau of chemistry at Washington from samples purchased in the open market, and form a convincing demonstration of the need of legislative action on this subject.

TONNAGE OF NEW YORK YACHT CLUB.

At a meeting of the New York Yacht Club in New York last night, Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt presiding, the usual routine business was disposed of, and 42 new members were elected. Secretary George A. Cormack reported that there were 136 vessels enrolled in the club, including 62 schooners, with a total tonnage of 5,051.83, 50 sloops representing 4,051.35 tons and 324 steam yachts, auxiliaries and power boats of 81,217.41 tons, the total tonnage of the club being 20,-326.65. There are at present 2,750 members in the club, of whom 12 were elected last night. Those present included ex-Commodores Lewis Cass Ledyard and F. G. Bourne.

MUNICIPAL REFORM.

Mrs. Oakley Talks to Civic League on Affairs in Philadelphia.

Good Work of the Women in Bringing Out Stay-at-Homes and Defeating the Gang.

At the meeting of the Civic League held yesterday afternoon in the Channing parlors Mrs. M. S. W. Marsh, president of the league, reported progress in the various departments. She spoke of the Juvenile Leagues of Good Citizenship which are being formed in the schools and of the Mothers' Meetings which are being held weekly in the different school buildings. Mrs. Marsh then introduced Mrs. J. N. Oakley of Philadelphia, who spoke for an hour or so on "Municipal Reform in Philadelphia."

In opening Mrs. Oakley said that she felt a special interest in Rhode Island because the same corporation that dominates Philadelphia dominates Rhode Island. Much has been done in the way of civil service reform in Philadelphia, but the election three weeks from now will, it is hoped, accomplish much more. At the recent campaign for good government in Philadelphia the women for the first time were invited to aid the City party, which is made up of men of all parties for the aid of the mayor in his fight against the gang. The women's clubs of the city worked as the women of Philadelphia, since their by-laws prohibited any political action.

The women's committee for the City party consisted of 25 or 30 members, whose slogan was "This is not politics, but morals," and this was printed at the head of all literature published. The chief object of their committee was to bring out the vote of 175,000 men, who were in the habit of staying away from the polls, by getting into their houses and urging upon them the duty of voting. The women's organization consisted of committees on co-operation, ward organization, speeches, press literature and circulars, flags and buttons and finance.

Co-operation was secured not by multiplying meetings, but by asking for ten minutes in which to be allowed to speak at all meetings of all kinds throughout the city. Of the 42 wards in Philadelphia all but four were visited by women under the direction of the ward chairman, and circulars were distributed. When a large meeting was held speakers—usually a man and a women—were obtained from the central committee, during the last two weeks 100 smaller meetings and 31 large meetings being held, 2049 women being interested in the work in the wards. At the mass meeting held in the Academy of Music the woman's committee sent a representative, who was the first woman who ever spoke at a political meeting in Philadelphia.

Only two newspapers, which were under the control of the gang, opposed the City party. At this point Mrs. Oakley took up the water supply of Philadelphia, for which 10 years ago $2,000,000 were appropriated. Already $50,000,000 has been appropriated and Philadelphia still has poor water, 1,100 cases of typhoid having occurred from 1897-1904. The filtration plant is made of the worst material underneath, polluted sand being used instead of pure sand. The contractors, meanwhile, have become millionaires. The gas rates in Philadelphia are very high and school appropriations often never reach the schools.

Flags and buttons in the national colors and in the Philadelphia colors—yellow and blue—were for sale in the department stores during the campaign and these were widely distributed. The women's committee has a balance of $800 for its February campaign, having, in addition to other expenses, printing, etc., served luncheons at the polls consisting of coffee, eggs and sandwiches. Inspectors are appointed by the gang and voluntary watchers stay at the polls all day to keep track of the repeaters. On election day the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held prayer meetings for the victory of the City party, but no one was found who dared hold prayer meetings for the gang.

As a result of the election the 175,-000 stay-at-home vote was reduced to 10,000 and the City party won by a majority of 50,000. In February the City party wants the help of the women again, as important city officers are to be elected then. Mrs. Oakley then took up the many frauds which arise in Philadelphia through the method of registration, the work of the repeaters, the importation of negroes from the South for the sake of their votes and the fraudulent voting made possible by the voters' assistant bill. The speaker mentioned as under the control of the gang policemen who have to bring in 10 voters for the gang every election or else lose their positions, magistrates and judges, councilmen and male teachers who have to give one per cent of their yearly salaries to the gang.

In conclusion, Mrs. Oakley said that all but about 10 cities in the United States and three states—Massachusetts, New York and Wisconsin—are potentially in the same condition as Philadelphia. No government is better than the people make it and officeholders are corrupt because they are allowed to be so by the voters or because the voters are criminally careless. The question before the American people now is: Are we an honest people with standards of right and wrong or merely of legality or illegality? Civil service reform may be effected by training the children in good citizenship, by supporting a city party and by gaining a new birth unto honesty. Mrs. Oakley is a fluent speaker and evidently thoroughly understands the situation in Philadelphia.

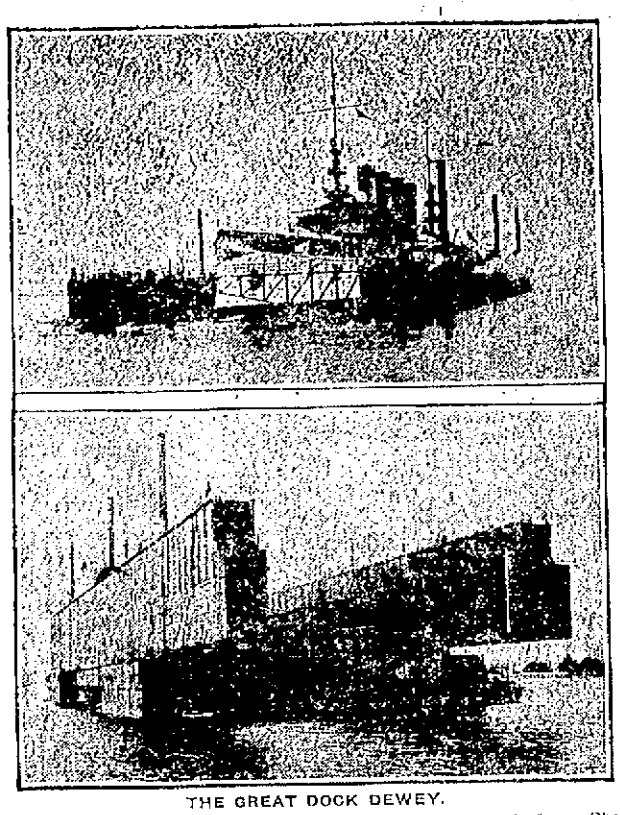

At the conclusion of the lecture Mrs. Marsh made an appeal for a larger attendance at the study class of the Civic League, in order that the members may learn about our state and city government, and a rising vote of thanks was then given to Mrs. Oakley for her interesting talk.

At the close of the meeting Miss Theodora Taylor, head of the municipal department of the Civic League of Newport, entertained several members of the league at her home in Francis street, tea and wafers being served and an opportunity being given to ask Mrs. Oakley questions.

TWO MORE BOATS FOR THE JOY LINE.

C. L. Dimon, the general manager of the Joy Line Steamship Company in Boston, who has been on the Pacific coast for several weeks, has purchased steamship Zealandia of the Spreckels fleet and the sidewheel iron steamer Olympian, and will bring both vessels around Cape Horn to Boston.

The Zealandia will tow the Olympian, and it is expected they will leave San Francisco about January 25. The Zealandia is 377 feet long and was built at Glasgow in 1875. For a time she plied between San Francisco and Honolulu, but recently she has been running to Alaska. The Olympian has been laid up at Portland, Ore., for 11 years. She was built in 1883 and is 264 feet long. The purchase of these two vessels for the coastwise trade out of Boston has aroused considerable curiosity in that city.

THE GREAT DOCK DEWEY.

The monster dry dock Dewey, which is now being towed from Chesapeake bay to Manila, a distance of 11,000 miles, will be capable of docking the largest warships that visit the Philippines. Three colliers, the Glacier, Brutus and Caesar, are towing the great hulk. Naval officers believe that the dock may be made to cover 100 miles a day and that it will reach Manila in three or four months. In the accompanying pictures the dock is shown when empty and when occupied by a big warship. When a vessel enters, the dock rises in the water until its floor is above the surface, thus exposing the entire hull of the ship, which may then be cleaned, painted and repaired.

NEWPORT POSTOFFICE REPAIRS.

Bill as Reported Carries an Amendment Increasing the Amount to $20,000.

Senator Wetmore yesterday reported to the United States Senate from the committee on public buildings and grounds his bill to improve the Newport Postoffice building. The bill as originally introduced by him appropriated $15,000 for this purpose. On recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury, however, the committee increased the amount to $20,000 and the bill as reported contains an amendment to that effect.

The Secretary of the Treasury in a letter to the committee said that from computations made, based upon data in the possession of the department, he was of the opinion that the proposed extension can be constructed for $15,000, but if provision is to be made for rearranging the entire first floor, which the department deems advisable, and for placing new screens and making necessary changes in heating, plumbing and wiring, it is estimated that such extension and alterations would cost $20,000. The Secretary also advised the expediency of doing a large amount of excavating under the old portion of the building and to underpin the walls.

YEOMAN GARNISS'S DEPARTURE.

Chief Yeoman William Garniss of the Training Station left today for Quincy, Mass., to join battleship Rhode Island, to which he has been ordered for duty. Yeoman Garniss has been a leading factor in athletics at the Training Station for a number of years, having been the most successful pitcher for the ball nines and prominent in other sports. He has also been prominent in local Young Men's Christian Association games, having been a member for several years of the bowling teams and this year of the basket ball team.

STATISTICS OF RHODE ISLAND INDUSTRIES.

A preliminary summary of the statistics for the manufacturing industries of Rhode Island for the calendar year 1904, issued by the Census Bureau at Washington and confined to the establishments with a product of $500 or over, shows 1,817 establishments, a decrease over 1900 of nearly 4 per cent. The capital invested was $315,915,375, total value of products $202,100,533.

THE OLD MAN AND THE DEAR LITTLE GIRL.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

One of those dear old gentlemen who were sent into the world to do good to it recently happened upon a nice little girl who was standing looking somewhat wistfully at a big, five-barred gate.

"O, please sir," she asked plaintively, "will you open this gate for me?"

Smilingly the kindly old gentleman lifted the latch and pushed it back; it opened easily, and he took the opportunity to point a moral.

"Because a thing seems big and heavy and difficult, my dear, is no reason that we should not attempt at any rate to deal with it. This gate, for instance, is a case in point. Had you tried you could have opened it quite easily."

"Yes, sir," she said demurely. "But then I should have got my hands all over wet paint."

Then her benefactor contemplated a ruined pair of gloves, and sighed for the rising generation.

MRS. CRAIGIE AND AMERICAN CLUBWOMEN.

Mrs. Pearl Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes) has been so impressed by the charming way in which American clubwomen, and especially New York clubwomen, are banded together, that when she goes back to London she is going to carry the club idea back with her, and try to organize a club there on the New York plan. Eclectic has had so many agreeable things said to it that it was not surprised when Mrs. Craigie took it into her confidence regarding her project, but it was distinctly pleased, especially as Mrs. Craigie allowed it to be inferred that Eclectic itself would serve as a model for her future woman's club in London. Englishwomen, Mrs. Craigie went on to say, didn't begin to have anything like the American club, and even Englishmen, members of the same club, viewed each other often with suspicion.

LOCAL TEAMS BEATEN.

Y. M. C. A. Suffers Defeat at Hands of Boston Men.

Holy Name Loses at Bristol—St. Mary's Wins from St. Joseph's in Junior League.

The Newport Young Men's Christian Association team was defeated by the Boston Association team at basket ball in the local gymnasium last evening, by a score of 33 to 26. The game was at times fast and rough, a large number of fouls being called by the referee, although few of them were intentional and the referee seemed inclined to be over-sharp in his decisions. The game was sometimes slow, and there were many opportunities for open throws at the baskets, but the players did not have the shooting ability at all times and many baskets were missed, some by narrow and others by very wide margins.

There was little to choose between the two teams, although the Boston men were given the greatest number of unobstructed throws and made some remarkable goals. The Newporters at times showed excellent team work and was good at blocking. For Boston, Chapman and Goggins did the best playing, and for Newport Durfee and McLyman figured most prominently in the scoring. Slocum, Garniss and Johnson also did excellent work. The line-up was as follows:

Boston.	Newport.
Chapman, r. f.	l. b., Slocum
Goggin, McNult, l. f.	r. b., Johnson
Williams, c.	c., Durfee
Runey, l. b.	l. f., McLyman
Jacobs, l. b.	r. f., Garniss

Score—Boston Y. M. C. A., 33; Newport Y. M. C. A., 26. Goals from floor—Chapman 5, Goggin 5, Williams 3, Runey, Jacobs 2; Slocum, Johnson, Durfee 5, McLyman 2, Garniss 2. Goals from fouls—Chapman; McLyman 4. Missed foul tries—Chapman 2, McLyman 5. Referee and Umpire Bradley.

The St. Joseph Holy Name basket ball team went to Bristol last night and played the Bristol Young Men's Christian Association team at the gymnasium. The visitors were defeated, 32 to 23, in a lively game marked by fast play and an absence of team work. The gymnasium was so small that the visitors could do little in their regular team play, and it was so dark that often they could not see the ball. Besides, the baskets had some rubber attachment which the rules do not call for and which worked to the advantage of the home team, because to the disadvantage of the visitors. Under the circumstances the Bristol boys deserved the game, but had the conditions been somewhat more even the score would undoubtedly have been different. While the play was quite fast, it seemed to be very fair, neither side trying to gain any undue advantage. The line-up:

Bristol.	Holy Name.
Wardwell, l. f.	l. f., Waters
Duffy, r. f.	r. f., McManus
Simister, c.	c., Palmer
McCaughey, l. b.	l. b., Palmer
Balfour, r. b.	r. b., Sullivan

Score—Bristol 32; Holy Name 23. Baskets—Wardwell 7, Duffy 4, Balfour 1, McCaughey 2; Waters 4, McManus 2, Palmer 3, Sullivan 2. From fouls—Duffy 5; McManus 1. Referees—Newman and Sullivan.

In the junior league last night the St. Mary's defeated the St. Joseph team in St. Mary's hall, 28 to 14. The line-up:

St. Mary's	St. Joseph
Kirwin, l. f.	l. f., Roche, Tarpey
Martin, r. f.	r. f., Tierney
Rhig, c.	c., Cornelis
Hickey, l. b.	l. b., Harvey
Devine, r. b.	r. b., Curran

Score—St. Mary 28; St. Joseph 14. Baskets—Kirwin 2, Martin 5, Hickey 2, Devine 4; Roche 1, Tarpey 1, Cornelius 2, Harvey 2. From fouls—Martin; Cornelis 2, St. Mary's, one point for interference. Referee—Harrington. Umpire—Moore.
